With the AEF in Germany, Oct. 21 (Delayed) (AP)—It happened across the border in Holland.

He was an American private with a few hours to spend in town. She was a Dutch girl—chubby, blonde and with a wide grin. They met on a street corner. Their only introduction was an exchange of smiles.

He spoke no Dutch; she spoke no English; so they used the few words of French that both knew.

"Cigarette?" he asked, pulling out a pack.

"Oui," she replied.

"Mademoiselle?" he inquired cautiously.

"Oui," she replied.

He held out his arm and asked, "Promenade?"

Again she said, "Oui."

Arm in arm they strolled down the street. They had gone only a couple of blocks when a husky young Dutchman stepped up behind them, seized the girl by an arm and began hauling her back the way she had come.

She turned and waved to the surprised soldier and by way of explanation called back, "Madame!"

Troops who fought through Anchen had pie on the menu almost every day because their own food was supplemented by captured German supplies seized during the house-to-house cleanup.

"We found some flour and lard, and we already had plenty of canned fruit, so we had all the pie we could eat," said Pfc. Frank Balin of Brooklyn, N. Y.

"We also are drinking a lot of German coffee that we picked up but it is too bitter. We put a couple of dippers of our own coffee into four or five of theirs and it goes down all right."

Praise For Medicos
American medical men caring for casualties in Aachen street fighting found more German than American wounded.

"Usually the side taking the offensive gets a lot more men hurt," said Section Sgt. Lyle H. Denich of Ira, N. Y., explaining his surprise.

"One of our medics was killed and one wounded by sniper fire when they tried to bring back some wounded doughboys. Most of our trouble was from small-arms fire."

Denich and two other medics, Pvt. Ernest Marx of New York, and T/3 Edward J. Korona, of New Bedford, Mass., praised the bravery of Pfc. Raymond Scott of Los Angeles, who continued to give first aid to the wounded after his cheek was grazed by a sniper's bullet.

"He was in and out of those bullets all day," said Denich. "They don't worry him. He keeps right on patching."

One group of forward doughboys was a little startled when four German soldiers surrendered while carrying swimming trunks.

"They wanted to know how soon they would be sent to Florida," said Capt. Brad Willingham of Baton Rouge, La.

$131 DONATED TO JUNIOR R.C.
BY STUDENTS

Additional contributions of $100.30 this week by Adams county school children to the Junior Red Cross brought the total for the year to date to $131.13. Mrs. Margaret Beiler, Junior Red Cross secretary, reported today.

The new memberships were from 30 of the county schools, including the Lincoln building in Gettysburg, and raised to 34 the number of schools which so far have reported. The Lincoln building was the leader among the latest group and the pupils here gave a total of $12.36.

Other donations were as follows: Strasbaugh's primary, $3.50; Wenk's grammar, $1.50; Wenk's primary, $1.50; Brysona grammar, $6; Brysona primary, $1.50; Idaville grammar, $1.50; Idaville primary, $1.50; Gardner's, $3; Center Mills, $4.50; Pickett, $3.05; Good Intent, $5.70; Rock Chapel, $2.14; Ash Grove, German township, $2; Walnut Grove, $2.50.

State Road, $2.10; Harbold's, 50 cents; Sadler's, $2; Miller's, $1.65; Round Hill, $3.15; Hampton, $2; Mechanicsville, $5; Belmont, $2.50; McCurdy's, $3; Stauffer's, $2; Oak Grove, Tyrone township, $1; Valley school, Mount Pleasant township, $4.29; Fairfield primary, $4; Fairfield grammar, $2; and Glenwood, $2.81.

The membership drive is continuing in the other schools in the county. Mrs. Beiler said, and a further report will be issued later. The four schools which had been reported earlier in the week were the Gettysburg High street school, $25.45; Moritz, Freedom township, $2; Heidersburg, $1.50, and Cold Spring grammar school, 88 cents.

FAIRFIELD MAN IS KILLED IN ACTION ABROAD

Sgt. James Leroy Bierly, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bierly, Fairfield R. D., was killed in action September 26 in France according to a telegram received by his parents from the War department Friday.

A previous telegram received by his parents October 20 stated Sgt. Bierly was missing in action since September 26.

Sgt. Bierly graduated from Fairfield high school in 1938. He entered the service 27 months ago and trained with an infantry outfit in Tennessee, Kansas, California and Ft. Dix, N. J. Last July he was sent overseas. He was married September 26, 1942, to the former Elizabeth Pryor, Waynesboro.

A brother, Pvt. Willis Bierly, is serving with a medical unit in Italy.

In addition to his parents, wife and brother, another brother, Lewis, at home, and two sisters, Mrs. Ivan Sites, Fairfield R. D. and Mrs. John Groft, Hanover, survive.

County Banks Are Presented ABA Farm Award

For the third year, Adams county's banks have participated with other banks in Pennsylvania to win the annual American Bankers' Association "1,000-Plus" award for outstanding service to farmers.

It was announced by Edmund W. Thomas, president of the First National bank of Gettysburg, who represented Adams county at the annual fall conference of the Committee on Agricultural Development of the Pennsylvania Bankers' association held at State College, J. D. Miller, vice-president and cashier of the Biglerville National bank and president of the Adams County Bankers' association has been designated by the Pennsylvania Bankers' association as Adams county banker representative on this committee.

Mr. Miller was unable to attend the conference on account of illness.

The award, which is an honor shared by all Pennsylvania banks, is made on the basis of "regular" and "extra" services available from banks to their farm customers. This year's recognition is given to banks in Pennsylvania and to the Pennsylvania Bankers' association for exceptional work in farm credit, and for constructive projects to improve farming methods.

Help Agriculture
"Nearly every bank coming in contact with Pennsylvania farmers has engaged in some project during the past year to help agriculture in its community," Mr. Thomas said.

"Data collected by the American Bankers' association shows that over half of these banks in Pennsylvania are helping farmers to develop better livestock programs and are encouraging them to plant now and improve crop varieties. Of course, most of our country banks are active also in efforts to combat inflation and speculation, and are encouraging farmers to build up financial reserves in War Bonds."

"The survey also revealed that 26 per cent of these banks are assisting boys and girls with club projects, and are encouraging them to be active in organizations such as the 4-H clubs and the Future Farmers of America. Also 60 per cent of the banks surveyed distribute agricultural literature."

Mrs. Fietta Myers Marks 98th Birthday

In excellent health, Mrs. Fietta Myers is celebrating her ninety-eighth birthday anniversary today at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Gilbert, 40 Hanover street. Mrs. Myers is Gettysburg's second oldest resident.

A native of York county, Mrs. Myers has resided in Gettysburg for the last 70 years. She has lived with the Gilberts since the death of her husband, Franklin Myers, a former battlefield guide, 18 years ago.

No special celebration of the anniversary is planned but Mrs. Myers is receiving the congratulations of her many friends.

FOUR BELOW FREEZING
The mercury dipped to 28 degrees here early this morning, 10 degrees below Friday's minimum reading, and by 8 o'clock this morning had climbed only to 32 degrees.

STATE POLICE IN HOTEL QUARTERS

New headquarters for the local sub-station of the State police will be located on the second floor of the Hotel Gettysburg annex, beginning November 1, Cpl. C. F. Tempke, commander, announced today.

The police have had to leave their present quarters in the West Gettysburg inn, about one mile west of Gettysburg along the Lincoln highway, because the building was sold this week by its former owner, George F. Eberhart, to Louis H. Sultan, of Hanover.

Members of the sub-station now will live at their homes in Gettysburg, and the rooms in the Hotel Gettysburg will serve as offices only.

George P. Black Will Remain in Postal Service

Postmaster Lawrence E. Oyler today announced that Assistant Postmaster George P. Black, who several weeks ago had announced that he planned to retire from the postal service October 31, had "reconsidered" and would remain in active service "for an indefinite period."

Mr. Black confirmed the announcement.

In making the announcement of Mr. Black's decision to reconsider his retirement, Postmaster Oyler did not state how long Mr. Black planned to remain in service.

"Mr. Black has been in the postal service for the past 40 years," Postmaster Oyler's statement read; "and he has been of invaluable service in the Gettysburg office. His wide knowledge of the postal laws and his familiarity with the assistant postmaster's routine for the last 26 years has served all postmasters and this community in good stead."

Helps in Emergency
"In asking Mr. Black to reconsider I had in mind these facts as well as the general shortage of available men for the postal service and our inability to secure experienced replacements at this time. I also have in mind the heavy outgoing and incoming Christmas mails, the heavy overseas mail and other enlargements of our service which invoke a hardship on our curtailed force."

"In announcing his decision to continue on active duty Mr. Black is rendering me and the Gettysburg post office a splendid service and demonstrates again his usual cooperative spirit in this emergency, when the manpower situation is so acute. I am more than pleased that he will remain in his position as assistant postmaster and hope he continues his duties until he reaches mandatory retirement age."

GETS DEGREE FROM CORNELL

George Richard Kellar, a graduate of Gettysburg college in the class of 1941, now is serving his internship at the Jersey City, New Jersey, medical center, after having been graduated from the Cornell University Medical college.

At the time of his graduation he received a commission of first lieutenant in the Army. Doctor Kellar was married recently to the former Miss Nell F. Wilson, of Elmira, N. Y. They are residing in Jersey City.

Doctor Kellar's father, H. August Kellar, graduated from Gettysburg college in 1916, and a brother, H. Allen Kellar, now is a freshman at the school.

Red Cross Will Lend Wheel Chairs

The Adams county chapter of the Red Cross has five wheel chairs on hand at headquarters in the Topper building and announced that they are ready to lend them to any counties who need such equipment.

One of the chairs is small enough to be used by a child.

The chairs, usually in great demand, have been returned by others who have borrowed them from the Red Cross over a period of years.

The chairs have been donated to the Red Cross during recent years and generally are kept in almost constant use.

There is no charge for use of the chairs but the borrowers are asked to return them in good condition when they have no further use for them.

The Peace Light Inn will be closed Saturday and Sunday of this week.

TEACHERS ARE TOLD OF HUGE TASKS AHEAD

"We, the American people, must stop running away from life, physically, mentally and spiritually, if we are to carry on with the rebirth of our nation," Donald V. Hook, Allentown attorney, told nearly 300 teachers and guests at the annual banquet of the eighty-eight Adams county teachers' institute Friday noon at St. James church.

Attorney Hook declared now is the time for the rebirth of America, just as the nation was born in 1776.

"We have a tremendous job to do," he said. "It will be even greater than we think because we are going to have to do a lot of the other person's work after this war is over."

"The birth of the United States took place, in my mind," the attorney said, "on Christmas night, 1776, when Washington re-crossed the Delaware to defeat the Prussians in the battle of Trenton. Before that he had retreated, but when he recrossed the river he had stopped running away physically and our country was born."

Cites Third War
Hook declared "we must look forward to a third world war in the twentieth century unless we do our job now and do it well."

Doctor Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools, presided at the banquet as toastmaster. Rev. Ralph R. Gresh, pastor of St. James church, gave the prayer. The retired teachers of the county and other guests were introduced. A male quartette under the direction of Professor Charles L. Yost, sang several selections.

During the morning session a series of 12 resolutions, prepared by the resolutions committee, of which Dr. Anson M. Hamlin, supervising principal of the Fairfield public schools, was chairman, was adopted by the institute.

Included were the following recommendations and decisions:

1. The Adams county branch of the Pennsylvania State Education association humbly acknowledges the debt of all Americans to the men and women serving in the Armed forces of our nation and above all to those who have made the supreme sacrifice in our behalf, and hereby expresses profound gratitude to those carrying the brunt of the battle. The association pledges to those who return from the conflict an unremitting effort to understand their problems and to offer them whatever help is in our power. We further urge all teachers to continue their united participation in securing a speedy and complete victory and recommend that each one consistently present those ideals of freedom and liberty needed to perpetuate our great republic in either war or peace.

ASKS SUPPORT IN BOND DRIVE

Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the Adams county War Finance committee, today appealed to Adams countyans to support the forthcoming Sixth War Bond drive which opens November 20 and continues through December 16.

The county quota is $2,290,000. Mr. Thomas' statement follows:

"I am urging greater interest in the Sixth War Loan drive than I have in any drive that has preceded it. That's because of the apparent, prevalent feeling that the war is already won. The German army still is not defeated. Its lines are contracted. Its supply base is closer to its lines. It is fighting on its home soil. It is going to put up a very stubborn fight before it surrenders. Neither are the Japs defeated. The fact that both the Germans and Japs are losing ground must not make us over-confident. The war in the southwest Pacific is far more costly than the war in the European theatre. Then, too, we have the wounded and disabled veterans to think of. Their care is a charge on the patriotic citizens of America that cannot and will not be overlooked. With the support of the people of this county in the Sixth War Loan drive such as we have received in the past five drives, we will obtain our quota."

Wounded Twice

Pfc. Eugene W. Koontz, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Koontz, Gardner R. 2, has been wounded in action in Italy twice in ten weeks. He was first wounded July 18 and returned to action August 2. A telegram last week informed his parents he was wounded again September 29.

SEEK CLOTHES FOR RUSSIANS

Mrs. Dunning Idle, Sr., chairman of the Gettysburg Council of Church Women for the collection of clothing for Russian relief, announced today that a special effort is being made by the group to collect articles of wearing apparel from the entire county.

Previous announcements, she said, may have given the impression that the clothing was being sought only from women in certain communities or those belonging to certain churches. "Such is not the case," she stated, "and our group is soliciting any usable clothing from all of the women in the county."

Persons having articles for donation are asked to take them to their nearest church or to one of the committee members in Gettysburg. The clothes will be sent from the main collection center in Gettysburg.

Mrs. Idle disclosed that the final collection date will be next Friday and all donations must be made by that time. Any clean, useable items of apparel are sought, with the exception of evening clothes and shoes. The project is under a program instituted by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration.

Short Of Help
Most canneries were well into their apple processing season, although at least one had started only within the past week. Indications were that the cannery work will continue into the winter, possibly in some instances until after the first of next year.

The officials deplored the shortage of cannery workers, a situation which they termed as "still acute."

One plant manager said he had at the present "only one-half the number of workers" he needed. Unless the labor shortage can be met in the near future, it will cause a delay in the processing and the lengthening into the winter months of the cannery work, he said.

80 At Presbyterian Halloween Party

More than 80 young people and adults attended the Presbyterian Sunday school Halloween party Friday evening in the social rooms of the church. Costume prizes were distributed to Jean Mountain as the prettiest; the Rev. Robert M. Hunt, most original; Miss Maude Whitehead, dressed as a witch as the ugliest masquerader, and the funniest was a tie between Janice Gignous and Mrs. S. A. Messner.

Fortunes were told and there were apple-bobbing and other games with prizes for the winner. Refreshments included cider, gingerbread, doughnuts, pretzels, apples and pears.

Countian Is Fined On School Charge

Glenn Shultz, Orttanna R. D., paid fines of $2 and $5 each and costs on two charges of permitting his daughter to remain away from school, following a hearing before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore Thursday evening.

Shultz had been charged by an official of the Franklin township school board with allowing his daughter, Catherine, to remain out of school on September 21, 25, and 26 and October 9, 10, 11 and 12.

Crushing Advance Takes Yankees 275 Miles From Manila

By C. YATES McDANIEL

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Oct. 28 (AP)—The crushing power of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's invasion armies, released as Japan's shattered fleet fled the Philippines, rapidly engulfed Samar island today, within 275 miles of Manila, aided brilliantly by Filipino guerrillas.

On Leyte, where land-based fighter planes drew cheers from elated soldiers as they began operating from captured airfields, great segments of the island fell to the onrushing Yanks.

By the hour, Japanese dead and wounded were added to the more than 14,000 casualties already inflicted. Most of the dead were men of Nippon's defeated and demoralized 16th Division which perpetrated the tortures on Bataan.

Virtually all Samar's more than 1,200 square miles, which extend to within 15 miles of prized Luzon, were under American and Filipino domination. The capital city, Catbalogan, was captured by men of Maj. Gen. Franklin C. Sibert's 10th Corps.

It was the second island capital invested in the Philippines, the other being Leyte's Tacloban, now provisional capital for Sergio Osmena's Philippine government.

Twelve more towns and villages were liberated on Leyte. At least 550 now are freed.

Japs Are Bottled
Some Nipponese are bottled up in Leyte valley with Yanks moving on them from north and south. They had two choices: flee into the hills—or stand and die.

Spearheads of Maj. Gen. Frederick A. Irving's 24th division, crashing through the 16th's backbone of resistance west of Palo, pushed spearheads six miles southward into the valley. They drove through Santa Fe and Pastrana.

Elements of Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold's Seventh and Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley's 96th divisions struck north above captured Buraen to within two miles of Dagami, main supply and troop concentration center for the Nipponese 16th.

The gap between the converging Yanks is less than 10 miles. When

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Oct. 28 (AP)—American planes and surface craft today hunted down Japanese warships limping from disaster in the Philippines, where the Imperial fleet lost probably 40 ships and had its maximum strength cut at least in half.

Bombers maintained an aerial dragnet from South China to the Sulu Sea, searching for survivors. Secrecy shadowed the activities of Allied fleet units which, however, were not overlooking the opportunity for a more decisive "kill."

It is closed, the plight of all Japanese between there and the east coast is hopeless.

Japanese facing the 24th blew up bridges to slow the American advance but makeshift spans were built and the infantrymen continued the relentless pursuit.

518 Yanks Killed
MacArthur's communique today reporting capture of Barugo also disclosed that men of General Arnold's Seventh Army have pushed down Leyte's east coast 14 miles below Dulag to enter Abuyog. From Barugo to Abuyog stretch 70 miles of Leyte coast now under control of the invaders.

As against Japanese casualties of 14,045—practically half of the enemy forces on Leyte—during the first week's fighting, American casualties were 518 killed, 139 missing and 1,503 wounded.

American patrol torpedo boats now are operating on Leyte's west coast. Today's communique disclosed the PT's sank 10 Japanese barges, loaded with troops, and two coastal freighters in Ormoc bay.

PVT. GUISE HOME
Pvt. Glenn Guise, chief of the fourth police department, now serving with the United States Marines, is spending the week-end at his home. He is stationed at Camp LeJeune, North Carolina.

Million Bu. Of Apples Will Be Processed Here
Adams county canneries are processing up to 100 per cent more apples than they did last year, a survey conducted by The Gettysburg Times revealed today.

All of the major county canneries reported incomplete figures as to the amount handled so far this year and the estimated production for the season, but an approximation put the total to be processed for the year at over one million bushels.

The majority of the apples are being canned as sliced apples, although approximately one-quarter of the supply is being made into apple butter, apple sauce, vinegar and other products. The government is receiving more than 65 per cent, canning officials said.

Crop Is Larger
The volume of the apple crop this year is about 25 per cent greater than last year, some canners said, and on the average the quality of the fruit is about the same. The severe drought during the summer did, however, allow a severe infestation of worms to enter the orchards and caused an unusually heavy amount of "drops." The quality of the drops was reported "very poor" because of the worms.

One estimate placed the amount of the total crop being processed by the county canneries at 90 per cent, with a consequent reduction in the number of apples being packed by the packing houses for distribution as fresh fruit.

Reasons given for the unusually low quantity being handled by the packing houses were the labor shortage, the lower quantity of the better grade apples, the shortage of baskets, liners and other packing materials, and the fact that the growers will receive this year on the average from the canneries the same figure at which they could sell their apples packed.

it is closed, the plight of all Japanese between there and the east coast is hopeless.

Japanese facing the 24th blew up bridges to slow the American advance but makeshift spans were built and the infantrymen continued the relentless pursuit.

518 Yanks Killed

MacArthur's communique today reporting capture of Barugo also disclosed that men of General Arnold's Seventh Army have pushed down Leyte's east coast 14 miles below Dulag to enter Abuyog. From Barugo to Abuyog stretch 70 miles of Leyte coast now under control of the invaders.

As against Japanese casualties of 14,045—practically half of the enemy forces on Leyte—during the first week's fighting, American casualties were 518 killed, 139 missing and 1,503 wounded.

American patrol torpedo boats now are operating on Leyte's west coast. Today's communique disclosed the PT's sank 10 Japanese barges, loaded with troops, and two coastal freighters in Ormoc bay.

PVT. GUISE HOME

Pvt. Glenn Guise, chief of the borough police department, now serving with the United States Marines, is spending the week-end at his home. He is stationed at Camp LeJeune, North Carolina.

SERVICE SPEAKER

Dr. W. C. Waltemyer, professor of English Bible at Gettysburg college, will be the speaker at the regular weekly union church service in Fairfield, to be held Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at the Zion Evangelical Lutheran church.

FAIRFIELD MAN IS KILLED IN ACTION ABROAD

Sgt. James Leroy Bierly, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bierly, Fairfield R. D., was killed in action September 26 in France according to a telegram received by his parents from the War department Friday.

A previous telegram received by his parents October 20 stated Sgt. Bierly was missing in action since September 26.

Sgt. Bierly graduated from Fairfield high school in 1938. He entered the service 27 months ago and trained with an infantry outfit in Tennessee, Kansas, California and Ft. Dix, N. J. Last July he was sent overseas. He was married September 26, 1942, to the former Elizabeth Pryor, Waynesboro.

A brother, Pvt. Willis Bierly, is serving with a medical unit in Italy. In addition to his parents, wife and brother, another brother, Lewis, at home, and two sisters, Mrs. Ivan Sites, Fairfield R. D. and Mrs. John Groft, Hanover, survive.

COUNTY BANKS ARE PRESENTED ABA FARM AWARD

For the third year, Adams county's banks have participated with other banks in Pennsylvania to win the annual American Banker's Association "1,000-Plus" award for outstanding service to farmers, it was announced by Edmund W. Thomas, president of the First National bank of Gettysburg, who represented Adams county at the annual fall conference of the Committee on Agricultural Development of the Pennsylvania Bankers' association held at State College. J. D. Miller, vice-president and cashier of the Biglerville National bank and president of the Adams County Bankers association has been designated by the Pennsylvania Bankers association as Adams county banker representative on this committee. Mr. Miller was unable to attend the conference on account of illness.

The award, which is an honor shared by all Pennsylvania banks, is made on the basis of "regular" and "extra" services available from banks to their farm customers. This year's recognition is given to banks in Pennsylvania and to the Pennsylvania Bankers' association for exceptional work in farm credit, and for constructive projects to improve farming methods.

Help Agriculture

"Nearly every bank coming in contact with Pennsylvania farmers has engaged in some project during the past year to help agriculture in its community," Mr. Thomas said.

"Data collected by the American Bankers' association shows that over half of these banks in Pennsylvania are helping farmers to develop better livestock programs and are encouraging them to plant now and improve crop varieties. Of course, most of our country banks are active also in efforts to combat inflation and speculation, and are encouraging farmers to build up financial reserves in War Bonds.

"The survey also revealed that 26 per cent of these banks are assisting boys and girls with club projects, and are encouraging them to be active in organizations such as the 4-H clubs and the Future Farmers of America. Also 60 per cent of the banks surveyed distribute ac-

Mrs. Fietta Myers Marks 98th Birthday

In excellent health, Mrs. Fietta Myers is celebrating her ninety-eighth birthday anniversary today at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Gilbert, 40 Hanover street. Mrs. Myers is Gettysburg's second oldest resident.

A native of York county, Mrs. Myers has resided in Gettysburg for the last 70 years. She has lived with the Gilberts since the death of her husband, Franklin Myers, a former battlefield guide, 18 years ago.

No special celebration of the anniversary is planned but Mrs. Myers is receiving the congratulations of her many friends.

FOUR BELOW FREEZING

The mercury dipped to 28 degrees here early this morning, 10 degrees below Friday's minimum reading, and by 8 o'clock this morning had climbed only to 32 degrees.

STATE POLICE IN HOTEL QUARTERS

New headquarters for the local sub-station of the State police will be located on the second floor of the Hotel Gettysburg annex, beginning November 1, Cpl. C. F. Tempke, commander, announced today.

The police have had to leave their present quarters in the West Gettysburg Inn, about one mile west of Gettysburg along the Lincoln highway, because the building was sold this week by its former owner, George F. Eberhart, to Louis H. Sultan, of Hanover.

Members of the sub-station now will live at their homes in Gettysburg, and the rooms in the Hotel Gettysburg will serve as offices only.

GEORGE P. BLACK WILL REMAIN IN POSTAL SERVICE

Postmaster Lawrence E. Oyler today announced that Assistant Postmaster George P. Black, who several weeks ago had announced that he planned to retire from the postal service October 31, had "reconsidered" and would remain in active service "for an indefinite period."

Mr. Black confirmed the announcement. In making the announcement of Mr. Black's decision to reconsider his retirement, Postmaster Oyler did not state how long Mr. Black planned to remain in service.

"Mr. Black has been in the postal service for the past 40 years," Postmaster Oyler's statement read; "and he has been of invaluable service in the Gettysburg office. His wide knowledge of the postal laws and his familiarity with the assistant postmaster's routine for the last 26 years has served all postmasters and this community in good stead."

Helps In Emergency

"In asking Mr. Black to reconsider I had in mind these facts as well as the general shortage of available men for the postal service and our inability to secure experienced replacements at this time. I also have in mind the heavy outgoing and incoming Christmas mails, the heavy overseas mail and other enlargements of our service which invoke a hardship on our curtailed force."

"In announcing his decision to continue on active duty Mr. Black is rendering me and the Gettysburg post office a splendid service and demonstrates again his usual cooperative spirit in this emergency, when the manpower situation is so acute. I am more than pleased that he will remain in his position as assistant postmaster and hope he continues his duties until he reaches mandatory retirement age."

GETS DEGREE FROM CORNELL

George Richard Kellar, a graduate of Gettysburg college in the class of 1941, now is serving his internship at the Jersey City, New Jersey, medical center, after having been graduated from the Cornell University Medical college.

At the time of his graduation he received a commission of first lieutenant in the Army. Doctor Kellar was married recently to the former Miss Nell F. Wilson, of Elmira, New York. They are residing in Jersey City.

Doctor Kellar's father, H. August Kellar, graduated from Gettysburg college in 1916, and a brother, H. Allen Kellar, now is a freshman at the school.

Red Cross Will Lend Wheel Chairs

The Adams county chapter of the Red Cross has five wheel chairs on hand at headquarters in the Topper building and announced that they are ready to lend them to any countians who need such equipment. One of the chairs is small enough to be used by a child.

The chairs, usually in great demand, have been returned by others who have borrowed them from the Red Cross over a period of years. The chairs have been donated to the Red Cross during recent years and generally are kept in almost constant use.

There is no charge for use of the chairs but the borrowers are asked to return them in good condition when they have no further use for them.

The Peace Light Inn will be closed Saturday and Sunday of this week.

TEACHERS ARE TOLD OF HUGE TASKS AHEAD

"We, the American people, must stop running away from life, physically, mentally and spiritually. If we are to carry on with the rebirth of our nation," Donald V. Hock, Allentown attorney, told nearly 300 teachers and guests at the annual banquet of the eighty-eighth Adams county teachers' institute Friday noon at St. James church.

Attorney Hock declared now is the time for the rebirth of America, just as the nation was born in 1776. "We have a tremendous job to do," he said. "It will be even greater than we think because we are going to have to do a lot of the other person's work after this war is over."

"The birth of the United States took place, in my mind," the attorney said, "on Christmas night, 1776, when Washington re-crossed the Delaware to defeat the Prussians in the battle of Trenton. Before that he had retreated, but when he recrossed the river he had stopped running away physically and our country was born."

Cites Third War

Hock declared "we must look forward to a third world war in the twentieth century unless we do our job now and do it well."

Doctor Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools, presided at the banquet as toastmaster. Rev. Ralph R. Gresh, pastor of St. James church, gave the prayer. The retired teachers of the county and other guests were introduced. A male quartette under the direction of Professor Charles L. Yost, sang several selections.

During the morning session a series of 12 resolutions, prepared by the resolutions committee, of which Dr. Anson M. Hamm, supervising principal of the Fairfield public schools, was chairman, was adopted by the institute.

Included were the following recommendations and decisions:

1. The Adams county branch of the Pennsylvania State Education association humbly acknowledges the debt of all Americans to the men and women serving in the Armed forces of our nation and above all to those who have made the supreme sacrifice in our behalf, and hereby expresses profound gratitude to those carrying the brunt of the battle. The association pledges to those who return from the conflict an unremitting effort to understand their problems and to offer them whatever help is in our power. We further urge all teachers to continue their united participation in securing a speedy and complete victory and recommend that each one consistently present those ideals of freedom and liberty needed to perpetuate our great republic in either war or peace.

ASKS SUPPORT IN BOND DRIVE

Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the Adams county War Finance committee, today appealed to Adams countians to support the forthcoming Sixth War Bond drive which opens November 20 and continues through December 16.

The county quota is $2,290,000. Mr. Thomas' statement follows: "I am urging greater interest in the Sixth War Loan drive than I have in any drive that has preceded it. That's because of the apparent, prevalent feeling that the war is already won. The German army still is not defeated. Its lines are contracted. Its supply base is closer to its lines. It is fighting on its home soil. It is going to put up a very stubborn fight before it surrenders. Neither are the Japs defeated. The fact that both the Germans and Japs are losing ground must not make us over-confident. The war in the southwest Pacific is far more costly than the war in the European theatre. Then, too, we have the wounded and disabled veterans to think of. Their care is a charge on the patriotic citizens of America that cannot and will not be overlooked. With the support of the people of this county in the Sixth War Loan drive such as we have received in the past five drives, we will obtain our quota."

The Peace Light Inn will be closed Saturday and Sunday of this week.

Wounded Twice

Pfc. Eugene W. Koontz, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Koontz, Gardners R. 2, has been wounded in action in Italy twice in ten weeks. He was first wounded July 18 and returned to action August 2. A telegram last week informed his parents he was wounded again September 29.

SEEK CLOTHES FOR RUSSIANS

Mrs. Dunning Idie, Sr., chairman of the Gettysburg Council of Church Women for the collection of clothing for Russian relief, announced today that a special effort is being made by the group to collect articles of wearing apparel from the entire county.

Previous announcements, she said, may have given the impression that the clothing was being sought only from women in certain communities or those belonging to certain churches. "Such is not the case," she stated, "and our group is soliciting any usable clothing from all of the women in the county."

Persons having articles for donation are asked to take them to their nearest church or to one of the committee members in Gettysburg. The clothes will be sent from the various churches in the county to the main collection center in Gettysburg.

Mrs. Idie disclosed that the final collection date will be next Friday and all donations must be made by that time. Any clean, useable items of apparel are sought, with the exception of evening clothes and shoes. The project is under a program instituted by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration.

PUMPKINS ON SALE AT MART

Pumpkins of all sizes and descriptions were on sale at the Farmers' market house this morning for Halloween celebrators. The prices ranged from five to 25 cents each.

Frost-nipped gardens sent only winter staples to the market stands this morning for the most part. Turnips were 10 cents a quart box and 50 cents a peck. Sweet potatoes ranged downward from $3 and $2.50 per bushel. Potatoes were $3 per bushel. Red and green peppers were two and three for five cents. Cabbage was five and six cents per pound. Green tomatoes were on sale at 10 cents a quart box.

Pork was in great demand with only those who had placed advance orders assured of being able to buy. Scrapple was 35 cents for two pounds; pudding, 30 cents a pound; sausage, 42 cents; backbone, 25 cents; ribs, 28 cents, and lard, 17 cents.

Apple prices ranged downward from the top of $4 for choice Stayman and Delicious apples. The general run of apples could be had from $2 to $3 per bushel in most of the other popular varieties. Late, second grade Smokehouse sold for 20 cents a half peck.

Dressed chickens continued to sell at 58 cents a pound. Eggs ranged from 40 for small sizes to 55 cents. Fresh cider was abundant at 45 and 50 cents a gallon. Apple butter could be had at 35 to 50 cents a quart and 20 to 30 cents a pint.

GUEST SOLOIST

Mrs. S. Richard Eisenhart, Baltimore street, will be the guest soloist at the Prince of Peace Episcopal church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock when the Sacrament of Confirmation will be administered by the Right Rev. J. Thomas Helstand, bishop of the diocese.

Radio service, Baker's Battery Service.

MILLION BU. OF APPLES WILL BE PROCESSED HERE

Adams county canneries are processing up to 100 per cent more apples than they did last year, a survey conducted by The Gettysburg Times revealed today.

All of the major county canneries reported incomplete figures as to the amount handled so far this year and the estimated production for the season, but an approximation put the total to be processed for the year at over one million bushels.

The majority of the apples are being canned as sliced apples, although approximately one-quarter of the supply is being made into apple butter, apple sauce, vinegar and other products. The government is receiving more than 65 per cent, canning officials said.

Crop Is Larger

The volume of the apple crop this year is about 25 per cent greater than last year, some canners said, and on the average the quality of the fruit is about the same. The severe drought during the summer did, however, allow a severe infestation of worms to enter the orchards and caused an unusually heavy amount of "drops." The quality of the drops was reported "very poor" because of the worms.

One estimate placed the amount of the total crop being processed by the county canneries at 90 per cent, with a consequent reduction in the number of apples being packed by the packing houses for distribution as fresh fruit.

Reasons given for the unusually low quantity being handled by the packing houses were the labor shortage, the lower quantity of the better grade apples, the shortage of baskets, liners and other packing materials, and the fact that the growers will receive this year on the average from the canneries the same figure at which they could sell their apples packed.

Short Of Help

Most canneries were well into their apple processing season, although at least one had started only within the past week. Indications were that the cannery work will continue into the winter, possibly in some instances until after the first of next year.

The officials deplored the shortage of cannery workers, a situation which they termed as "still acute." One plant manager said he had at the present "only one-half the number of workers" he needed. Unless the labor shortage can be met in the near future, it will cause a delay in the processing and the lengthening into the winter months of the cannery work, he said.

80 At Presbyterian Halloween Party

More than 80 young people and adults attended the Presbyterian Sunday school Halloween party Friday evening in the social rooms of the church. Costume prizes were distributed to Jean Mountain as prettiest; the Rev. Robert M. Hunt, most original; Miss Maude White-leather, dressed as a witch as the ugliest masquerader, and the funniest was a tie between Janice Gignous and Mrs. S. A. Messner.

Fortunes were told and there were apple-bobbing and other games with prizes for the winner. Refreshments included cider, gingerbread, doughnuts, pretzels, apples and pears.

Countian Is Fined On School Charge

Glenn Shultz, Orrtanna R. D., paid fines of $2 and $5 each and costs on two charges of permitting his daughter to remain away from school, following a hearing before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore Thursday evening.

Shultz had been charged by an official of the Franklin township school board with allowing his daughter, Catherine, to remain out of school on September 21, 25, and 28 and October 9, 10, 11 and 12.

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Oct. 28 (AP)—The crushing power of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's invasion armies, released as Japan's shattered fleet fled the Philippines, rapidly engulfed Samar island today, within 275 miles of Manila, aided brilliantly by Filipino guerrillas.

On Leyte, where land-based fighter planes drew cheer from elated soldiers as they began operating from captured airfields, great segments of the island fell to the onrushing Yanks.

By the hour, Japanese dead and wounded were added to the more than 14,000 casualties already inflicted. Most of the dead were men of Nippon's defeated and demoralized 16th Division which perpetrated the tortures on Bataan.

Virtually all Samar's more than 1,200 square miles, which extend to within 15 miles of prized Luzon, were under American and Filipino domination. The capital city, Catbalogan, was captured by men of Maj. Gen. Franklin C. Sibert's 10th Corps.

It was the second island capital invested in the Philippines, the other being Leyte's Tacloban, now provisional capital for Sergio Osmena's Philippines government.

Twelve more towns and villages were liberated on Leyte. At least 550 now are freed.

Japs Are Bottled

Some Nipponese are bottled up in Leyte valley with Yanks moving on them from north and south. They had two choices: flee into the hills—or stand and die.

Spearheads of Maj. Gen. Frederick A. Irving's 24th division, crashing through the 16th's backbone of resistance west of Palo, pushed spearheads six miles southward into the valley. They drove through Santa Fe and Pastrana.

Elements of Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold's Seventh and Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley's 96th divisions struck north above captured Burauen to within two miles of Dagami, main supply and troop concentration center for the Nipponese 16th.

The gap between the converging Yanks is less than 10 miles. When

ALUMNI GATHER FOR WEEK-END ON CAMPUS HERE

The combined annual alumni homecoming and interfraternity week-end at Gettysburg college opened this morning at 10:30 o'clock with a meeting of the alumni council in the auditorium of the Student Christian association building.

President William H. Patrick, Philadelphia, class of 1916, presided at the two-hour session at which a small attendance was recorded. Business concerned the reports of committee chairmen and the appointment of new committees.

The committees appointed were as follows:

ALLIED DRIVE TO 'BUST' NAZIS "ON ITS WAY"

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

For those who are anxious because the all-out Allied offensive hasn't yet started in western Europe, despite the fact that winter already is prowling about the fighting lines, let it be said that there's no cause to worry, for the drive is on its way.

Every time my vagrant telephone wakes me up these autumn nights I say to myself: "This will be the word that General Ike has let hell loose against Hitler." That's how close the assault seems to be.

The reason Eisenhower hasn't already struck is mainly due, as I see it, to the necessity of bringing up vast supplies under fierce handicaps. We probably even are justified in saying that the Allies might be across the Rhine right now, headed for Unter Den Linden, if they had possessed the wherewithal when they first came up against the west wall in mid-September. That's not anybody's fault but is one of those ironic quirks of war over which nobody has control.

We outdistanced our supplies in the amazing hare-and-hound chase of the Nazis across broad France. Actually we were ahead of schedule when the hare went to ground in his own safety-zone.

Allied striking-power was temporarily short-circuited by coming up against the German frontier defenses. While the chase continued over open ground, our magnificent air and road transport kept us sufficiently supplied. But the Siegfried line is another proposition. It demands heavy equipment and mountains of material. That means not only air and road transport but railroads—and don't forget that it calls for ports, because the Allied armies are dependent on sea-borne supplies.

Actually the Allied transport system has performed one of the wonders of military history. Lt. General Somervell, commander of the Army service forces, discloses that during the first 109 days of the invasion the Allies landed 2,500,000 troops, 500,000 vehicles, and 17,000,000 ship tons of munitions, vehicles and supplies. This is more than twice as much as General Pershing received all told in the last war.

Those 109 days a bit more than covered the period of the Allied charge to the German frontier. However, you'll note that General Somervell says the troops and supplies were "landed" in the 109 days. This doesn't account for the titanic task of moving them—and subsequent cargoes—across France by air, by highways which the Nazis had damaged, and by railroads that still are far from normal.

Ever since the invading troops fought their way out of Normandy, endless lines of supplies have been following them faithfully. But the Allies have had to meet the huge daily needs of their armies, as well as pile up a reserve for the drive to the Rhine.

Naturally we aren't told how great that reserve has become. We do know the Allies have been hampered by inadequate port facilities. The bulk of the supplies have been going through Cherbourg and through the amazing Normandy beach-head harbors. But these ports are about 450 miles from the Allied front.

The Belgian port of Antwerp, which is one of the world's greatest, may shortly ease Eisenhower's problem. This city, which is on the river Scheldt, was captured intact by the Allies. It lies directly back of the Allied northern flank where the offensive is likely to be staged, and has good rail facilities to the front.

The difficulty has been that the Nazi big guns could reach the Scheldt estuary from neighboring Dutch territory and so prevent shipping from reaching Antwerp. However, the Canadian-British operations to oust the Germans from that part of Holland appear to be nearing a successful conclusion. This may hasten the launching of the six-offensive.

Funeral services for James L. Neely, 65, Fairfield, who died Wednesday from a complication of diseases, will be held from the late home this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock conducted by Dr. Rev. Harry S. Ecker, internment in Union cemetery.

The pallbearers will be George M. Neely, Robert C. Neely, Donald H. Neely, John W. McElhenny, D. P. Polley and William F. Neely.

Convert "Horror" Camp To Shelter

Vught, The Netherlands, Oct. 28 (AP)—The largest concentration camp in the Netherlands, where an estimated 30,000 persons died at the hands of German torturers, was being transformed into a shelter for refugees today by Allied civil affairs officials.

The 600-acre estate near Vught fell into Allied hands yesterday. Eyewitnesses said that on one occasion there the Germans crowded 67 women into an airless, lightless room 12 feet by seven feet and eight feet high for 13 hours. Twelve died, three became insane and 20 were hospitalized. Other inmates were beaten until their bones were broken, then ordered to line up for roll call.

Two Counties Go On Casualty List

Mr. and Mrs. William Shad, Littlestown, received a letter on Monday from their son, Pfc. Malcolm B. Shad, 19, in which he stated he was wounded in the left hand October 2 and is now confined to a hospital in Italy. Pfc. Shad's wife, the former Evelyn L. Oiler, who resides near Taylorstown, with her daughter, has since received a telegram from the War Department notifying her of her husband's being wounded in action.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Staub, 122 Third street, Midway, received a telegram last night from Adjutant General James A. Uno, telling them that their son, Pfc. Frederick C. Staub, 19, was slightly injured in Belgium on October 9.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

The dinner will be attended by returning fraternity and non-fraternity alumni and also by undergraduate fraternity men and pledges.

The all college-alumni dance will start in the Eddie Plank memorial members of the student unit of the Army alumni, college students and members of the student unit of the Army Air Corps Reserve training corps invited to attend.

Activities on Sunday will be in charge of the various fraternity and other organizations on the campus.

News Briefs

Stockholm, Oct. 28 (AP)—"Reports of Allied landing operations along the Norwegian coast already are so numerous it is impossible to deny them all," the German-controlled Scandinavian Telegraph Bureau reported today in announcing that blackout measures had been tightened throughout the country.

Plans for the evacuation of civilians in northern Norway were said to involve 200,000 persons.

London, Oct. 28 (AP)—A representative of Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, Allied commander in the Mediterranean, has arrived in Moscow to take part in the Bulgarian armistice discussions. Moscow radio announced today.

London, Oct. 28 (AP)—The government announced today that persons evacuated from more than 50 coastal towns and districts when a German invasion of Britain was feared, might now return to their homes at government expense.

Champagne Cache Bring Court Martial

London, Oct. 28 (AP)—A cache of 1,000 bottles of champagne valued at $20 a bottle has bubbled into an investigation of cargoes brought from France on U. S. Army cargo planes.

The rainsoaked cases were found by police behind a house in Chelmsford, Essex.

Customs officials questioned two United States air officers and communicated with a French airfield.

It was stated that stricter inspection of Allied aircraft returning from France is likely.

The matter of stroller duties and purchase tax for property of American military men returning from France will be discussed in the House of Commons Tuesday as a result of the discovery.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Theresa Stock, Carlisle street, submitted to an operation at the Warner hospital this morning for the removal of her tonsils.

Other admissions included Mrs. Ralph Simpson, Gettysburg R. 5; Mrs. Kenneth Sanders, Fairfield R. 1; Mrs. William F. Quillian, 43 East Lincoln avenue; Mrs. James Harner, Littlestown; Mrs. Wayne Arnold, Littlestown; and Mrs. George E. Rue, Taneytown. Those discharged were Clifford Hartzell, Arendtsville; Mrs. Raymond Hale and infant daughter, Margaret Ann, Arendtsville; Mrs. Richard P. Kress and infant daughter, Janet Irene, Littlestown; Stanley Shafer, Gettysburg college, and Allen Trostle, Gettysburg R. 2.

RELIEF PAYMENTS

Direct relief payments made to needy residents of Adams county during the week ended today showed a decrease of $170 from those of the previous week, State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner reported. Payments for the week totaled $334.20, which was $32.50 more than those of the comparable week of last year. Current week payments were made in 60 checks.

OPA TO CHECK PRICES OF ALL WORK CLOTHES

A retail price survey of staple work clothing and work gloves will be made by OPA Price Panel Assistants in the Harrisburg 10-county District during the first half of November. W. C. Young, Acting District OPA Director, announced today.

"This program is the first National Price Panel program in the apparel field to determine compliance with retail price ceilings," Mr. Young said. "Its aim is to increase retailer compliance with the clothing regulations."

"During this program the retail prices of staple work clothing, including men's and boy's overalls, men's dungarees and overall jackets, and various styles of staple work gloves will be checked."

"Staple work clothing, and work gloves were chosen for the program because of their importance in the apparel field. These clothing items are covered by dollar-and-cents ceilings, which make price checking comparatively simple. Some provisions covering staple work clothing and gloves are relatively new, and the Price Panels can be of great assistance through this survey in helping retailers to understand and comply with these provisions."

Check All Stores

"The method of conducting this survey in the apparel field will be similar to that used in the continuing survey of retail food prices." A Price Panel Assistant will call at every retail store which sells work clothing at a time when the store is not crowded with customers. The assistant will introduce herself to the manager or owner of the store and tell him the purpose of her visit. She will check his prices and call his attention to any that are higher than the established ceilings.

If prices in retail clothing store are above the ceilings, that fact will appear in the Price Panel Assistant's report. However, if he corrects his prices while the assistant is in the store, she will note it in her report. If the merchant refuses to correct his prices during the Assistant's visit, he will be called before the Local Price Panel.

The members of the Panel will discuss the prices with him and try to persuade him to correct them. If the merchant still refuses to correct his prices, his name will be sent to the District Office for enforcement action.

Mr. Young also said that in many cases price violations are due to a misunderstanding of the provisions in a regulation. Usually, such violations are straightened out while the Price Panel Assistant is in the store or when the merchant is called before the Price Panel.

Seeks Old Saws To Make Knives For Use On Japs

Old, broken or unused circular saws are being converted into sheath knives for use of our fighting men in the Pacific by D. M. Hutchinson, State College, whose son, Donald, is buried in Australia, the victim of a Jap.

Hutchinson had broadcast throughout Pennsylvania his appeal for old, broken or unused saws in sizes from 14-inch to 40-inch. He has finished his 529th sheath knife and it will be sent on request to Frank N. Fagan, Jr., a school friend of Donald Hutchinson now serving in the Pacific.

Mr. Hutchinson says he has more than 1,000 requests for knives he has not yet been able to supply and he needs more old saws. The knives are not sold, they are sent post-free to members of our armed forces upon request.

On the list of business firms throughout the state that are acting as receiving agents for the saws which will be forwarded to Mr. Hutchinson are the Central Chemical corporation, Gettysburg, and the Knouse corporation plants at Peach Glen and Chambersburg.

Donors may send their old saws direct to Mr. Hutchinson by mailing them to board frames and sending them collect to the knife manufacturer.

Flyer Awaiting New Assignment

First Lt. Edgar T. Keffer, 26, of McSherrystown, has arrived at the Army Air Forces Redistribution Station No. 2, Miami Beach, Fla., for reassignment after completing a tour of duty outside the continental United States, an Army announcement disclosed today.

Medical examinations and classification interviews at the post, one of three redistribution stations operated by the AAF, for returned officers and enlisted men, will determine his new assignment. He will remain at Miami Beach for about two weeks.

Lieutenant Keffer's wife, Mrs. Louise C. Keffer, resides at 401 North street, McSherrystown. He was a pilot in the European theatre of war.

Donald Hershey, Cashtown, who is serving with the Navy, has been placed in charge of the tailor shop at Tinian and has been promoted to ship's service man's tailor, third class petty officer. Hershey was employed at Pitzer's tailor shop, center square, before his induction.

Upper Communities

Miss Mae Gantt returned to Newport Friday after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Kleinfelder, Biglerville.

Guests included the following young people, Patty Phillips, Carole Dunbar, Ann Frederick, John Jacobs, Daniel Bushman, Fred Garretson, Charles Dunbar, Bert Frederick, John Frederick, Eddie Bob Hoffman, Danny Walter and Jack Orner, all of Arendtsville.

The Rice packing house at Biglerville completed its apple packing for the season this week.

Mrs. Viola Ecker, Miss Edna Walter, Miss Ida Mae Walter and the Misses Nadine and Janice Lupp, Biglerville, were visitors in Hanover Friday.

W. Clayton Jester, Biglerville R. D., returned today from a business trip of several days to Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther M. Lady, Biglerville R. D., attended the wedding of their nephew, Paul Pennypacker, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pennypacker, Parkerford, and Miss Lucille Knotts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leroy Knotts, Sharon, today.

Members of the Clover Leaf club of Arendtsville were entertained at a Halloween masquerade party Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Helen Rice at her cottage in the Narrows. Members were attired in Gay 90's costumes. The afternoon was spent in playing games and contests for which prizes were awarded. Supper was served in the dining room where cards bearing appropriate verses, marked the place for the guests.

CANADIAN 1ST ARMY CAPTURES HOLLAND TOWN

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, Oct. 28 (AP)—Canadian first Army troops have captured Bergen Op Zoom, the western anchor of the German line in southwestern Holland, Supreme headquarters announced today while British troops neared Breda, last stronghold that might shield a German withdrawal across the Meas river, the Waal Rhine and their branches.

Allied forces continued to reinforce and expand their positions on the south coast of South Beeland island in the Scheide estuary, the communiqué said.

Allied fliers reported seeing many vehicles moving north from Breda, indicating that the Germans—in the face of the terrific pressure—might be evacuating that city of 48,000 the south coast of South Beeland.

Nazis Retreating

From a point four miles west of now-freed 'S Hertogenbosch to the North sea, British and Canadian forces harried the retreating Germans.

The British drive on Breda was coupled with a breakthrough five miles north of Tilburg, storming to Loon Op Zand, British armor in the breakthrough area was six miles due south of the Meas and 10 miles southeast of a vital bridge across that river at Geertruidenberg.

Six miles east of Loon Op Zand another British column knifed beyond newly-captured Helvoirt and reached the Afwaterings canal at a point four miles west of 'S Hertogenbosch.

Breda is 13 miles west of Tilburg. The highway connecting the two cities was cut at the half-point. Only a few enemy snipers remained last night in Tilburg, a rail and road center of 31,000 population. Cheerful throngs of Dutch greeted the British as they marched through the city.

Two Forces Join

Above Antwerp British and Canadian armor and infantry have linked in force. The British have thrust within two miles of Roosendaal from the southwest.

The German pocket on the south shore of the Scheide estuary dwindled as British troops pushed beyond Fort Frederik Hendrik.

American First Army units made minor gains north of Aachen in Germany. The U. S. Third army front in France was quiet except for the harassing fire of German big guns. Local gains were made on the Allied Sixth Army group front on the southern end of the Allied line.

AGENT MOVES HERE

Assistant County Agricultural Extension Agent Archibald Hug and Mrs. Hug came to Gettysburg today to establish their home. They will live in the Slagbaugh apartments, 33 East Middle street. Hug was in Jonestown, his former home, this week.

London, Oct. 28 (AP)—Two sharp air attacks hit Berlin last night a short time after Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, Nazi propaganda minister, completed a "battle to death" plea to the German nation.

Modern ships are protected against barnacles with anti-fouling paint that discourages marine growths.

TEACHERS ARE

human life, especially in the youth of the land recommend that:

a. Guidance in its broad aspects, educational, ethical, civic, social and occupational be made available to every youth, and that every teacher accept responsibility for guidance.

b. Students in high school and college, if possible, remain until graduated.

c. Programs suited to particular needs of youth be developed to promote a welfare of those both in school and out of school.

d. Greater emphasis be placed on the following ideals: any socially useful work is honorable, mastery in any worthy undertaking is the minimum objective, mutual respects for the rights of individuals or groups is essential.

3. Our association go on record as urging the adoption and strict enforcement of adequate school attendance and child labor laws.

4. That we recommend that the presidents of the local branches of the PSEA in Adams county appoint a coordinating committee composed of two representatives from each local branch and that this committee shall meet at least four times a year to discuss association information and procedure.

5. That we reaffirm our faith in the principle of federal aid to education without federal control and urge Congress enact the Ranspess bill, House resolution 2849, or similar legislation to the end that educational opportunity throughout the nation may be more nearly equalized and money rebate available to increase such standards and the salaries of teachers.

Endorse PSEA Program

6. That the Adams county local branch of the PSEA endorse in entirety the legislative program of the state organization which is to be presented to the 1945 legislature.

7. Be it resolved that article 7, section 1, of the constitution of the Adams county branch of the PSEA be amended to read as follows: "The executive council shall consist of 15 members, one from each sub-district who is elected to serve as chairman of that sub-district," and that article 7, section 2, of the constitution be amended to read as follows: "The legislative committee of the Adams county branch of the PSEA shall consist of three members appointed by the president, subject to the approval of the executive council."

8. We wish to go on record as heartily supporting the National Education association War and Peace fund and the uses to which it will be directed.

9. Be it resolved that our association direct its efforts towards securing an amendment to the federal income tax law exempting from federal taxation the retirement allowances of all persons who are or may be retired under local or state retirement systems, as is done in the case of certain other retirement systems, and secondly to provide that teachers and others paid in fewer than 12 installments be not penalized.

Commend Officials

10. That we commend the county superintendent of schools, J. Floyd Gierbaugh, and his assistant, Robert A. Bream, for the highly constructive and educational program conducted at this institute.

11. That we express our appreciation to the Warner Brothers Theatre company and its manager, Sydney J. Poppay; the Gettysburg hotel, and St. James Lutheran church for the use of their properties for the conducting of the institute.

12. That the teachers of the institute express thanks to Burgess Fred G. Pfeiffer and the borough council for the courtesy extended to the teachers of Adams county for special parking privileges during the institute.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Sons were born at the Warner hospital this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Simpson, Gettysburg R. 5, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sanders, Fairfield R. 1.

ALLIED DRIVE TO 'BUST' NAZIS "ON ITS WAY"

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

For those who are anxious because the all-out Allied offensive hasn't yet started in western Europe, despite the fact that winter already is prowling about the fighting lines, let it be said that there's no cause to worry, for the drive is on its way.

Every time my private telephone wakes me up these autumn nights I say to myself: "This will be the word that General Ike has let hell loose against Hitler." That's how close the assault seems to be.

The reason Eisenhower hasn't already struck is mainly due, as I see it, to the necessity of bringing up vast supplies under fierce handicaps. We probably even are justified in saying that the Allies might be across the Rhine right now, headed for Unter Den Linden, if they had possessed the wherewithal when they first came up against the west wall in mid-September. That's not anybody's fault but is one of those ironic quirks of war over which nobody has control.

Ahead of Supplies

We outdistanced our supplies in the amazing hare-and-hound chase of the Nazis across broad France. Actually we were ahead of schedule when the hare went to ground in his own safety-zone.

Allied striking-power was temporarily short-circuited by coming up against the German frontier defenses. While the chase continued over open ground, our magnificent air and road transport kept us sufficiently supplied. But the Siegfried line is another proposition. It demands heavy equipment and mountains of material. That means not only air and road transport but railways—and don't forget that it calls for ports, because the Allied armies are dependent on sea-borne supplies.

Actually the Allied transport system has performed one of the wonders of military history. Lt. General Somervell, commander of the Army service forces, discloses that during the first 109 days of the invasion the Allies landed 2,500,000 troops, 500,000 vehicles, and 17,000,000 ship tons of munitions, vehicles and supplies. This is more than twice as much as general Pershing received all told in the last war.

Tons of Supplies
Those 109 days a bit more than covered the period of the Allied charge to the German frontier. However, you'll note that General Somervell says the troops and supplies were "landed" in the 109 days. This doesn't account for the titanic task of moving them—and subsequent cargoes—across France by air, by highways which the Nazis had damaged, and by railroads that still are far from normal.

Ever since the invading troops fought their way out of Normandy, endless lines of supplies have been following them faithfully. But the Allies have had to meet the huge daily needs of their armies, as well as pile up a reserve for the drive to the Rhine.

Naturally we aren't told how great that reserve has become. We do know the Allies have been hampered by inadequate port facilities. The bulk of the supplies have been going through Cherbourg and through the amazing Normandy beach-head harbors. But these ports are about 450 miles from the Allied front.

The Belgian port of Antwerp, which is one of the world's greatest, may shortly ease Eisenhower's problem. This city, which is on the river Scheldt, was captured intact by the Allies. It lies directly back of the Allied northern flank where the offensive is likely to be staged, and has good rail facilities to the front.

The difficulty has been that the Nazi big guns could reach the Scheldt estuary from neighboring Dutch territory and so prevent shipping from reaching Antwerp. However, the Canadian-British operations to oust the Germans from that part of Holland appear to be nearing a successful conclusion. This may hasten the launching of the big offensive.

Two Counties Go On Casualty List

Mr. and Mrs. William Shadle, Littlestown, received a letter on Monday from their son, Pfc. Malcolm B. Shadle, 19, in which he stated he was wounded in the left hand October 2 and is now confined to a hospital in Italy. Pfc. Shadle's wife, the former Evelyn L. Olier, who resides near Taneytown, with her daughter, has since received a telegram from the War Department notifying her of her husband's being wounded in action.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Staub, 125 Third street, Midway, received a telegram last night from Adjutant General James A. Ulio, telling them that their son, Pfc. Frederick C. Staub, 19, was slightly injured in Belgium on October 9.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

A marriage license was issued this morning at the office of Clerk of the Courts, Mrs. Howard W. Sheffer to Chester William Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lawrence, Gettysburg, and Agnes Sarah Kreitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Kreitz, of Emmitsburg.

The pallbearers will be George M. Neely, Robert C. Neely, Donald H. Neely, John W. McIlhenny, D. P. Polley and William F. Neely.

Convert "Horror" Camp To Shelter

Vught, The Netherlands, Oct. 28 (AP)—The largest concentration camp in the Netherlands, where an estimated 30,000 persons died at the hands of German torturers, was being transformed into a shelter for refugees today by Allied civil affairs officials.

The 640-acre estate near Vught fell into Allied hands yesterday. Eyewitnesses said that on one occasion there the Germans crowded 67 women into an airless, lightless room 12 feet by seven feet and eight feet high, for 13 hours. Twelve died, three became insane and 30 were hospitalized. Other inmates were beaten until their bones were broken, then ordered to line up for roll call.

HONORARY DISCHARGE

An honorary discharge from the United States Army was recorded this morning at the court house for Lloyd C. Tressler, formerly of Fairfield, now living in Waynesboro. Tressler, who was discharged with the rank of private, was inducted March 6 of this year through the Gettysburg draft board.

Everybody Contributed

Every boy and girl and every member of the staff at the Hoffman orphanage has made a contribution to the Adams County War Fund campaign, the Rev. Kenneth D. James, Littlestown area campaign chairman, reported. The donations from the orphanage amounted to $34.16. The Rev. Arthur Leeming, superintendent at the orphanage, said this drive was the first for any cause in which everybody at the orphanage participated.

DEATH

London, Oct. 28 (AP)—The government announced today that persons evacuated from more than 50 coastal towns and districts when a German invasion of Britain was feared, might now return to their homes at government expense.

Champagne Cache Bring Court Martial

London, Oct. 28 (AP)—A cache of 1,000 bottles of champagne valued at $20 a bottle has bubbled into an investigation of cargoes brought from France on U. S. Army cargo planes. The rainsoaked cases were found by police behind a house in Chelmsford, Essex.

Customs officials questioned two United States air officers and communicated with a French airfield. It was stated that stricter inspection of Allied aircraft returning from France is likely.

The matter of stricter duties and purchase tax for property of American military men returning from France will be discussed in the House of Commons Tuesday as a result of the discovery.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Thepesa Stock, Carlisle street, submitted to an operation at the Warner hospital this morning for the removal of her tonsils.

Other admissions included Mrs. Ralph Simpson, Gettysburg R. 5; Mrs. Kenneth Sanders, Fairfield R. 1; Mrs. William F. Quillian, 43 East Lincoln avenue; Mrs. James Harner, Littlestown; Mrs. Wayne Arnold, Littlestown; and Mrs. George E. Rue, Taneytown. Those discharged were Clifford Hartzell, Arendtsville; Mrs. Raymond Hale and infant daughter, Margaret Ann, Arendtsville; Mrs. Richard P. Kress and infant daughter, Janet Irene, Littlestown; Stanley Shafer, Gettysburg college, and Allen Trostle, Gettysburg R. 3.

RELIEF PAYMENTS

Direct relief payments made to needy residents of Adams county during the week ended today showed a decrease of $4.70 under those of the previous week. State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner reported. Payments for the week totaled $334.20 which was $33.50 more than those of the comparable week of last year. Current week payments were made in 60 checks.

OPA TO CHECK PRICES OF ALL WORK CLOTHES

A retail price survey of staple work clothing and work gloves will be made by OPA Price Panel Assistants in the Harrisburg 10-county District during the first half of November. W. C. Young, Acting District OPA Director, announced today.

"This program is the first National Price Panel program in the apparel field to determine compliance with retail price ceilings," Mr. Young said. "Its aim is to increase retailer compliance with the clothing regulations."

"During this program the retail prices of staple work clothing, including men's and boys' overalls, men's dungarees and overall jackets, and various styles of staple work gloves will be checked."

"Staple work clothing, and work gloves were chosen for the program because of their importance in the apparel field. These clothing items are covered by dollar-and-cents ceilings, which make price checking comparatively simple. Some provisions covering staple work clothing and gloves are relatively new, and the Price Panels can be of great assistance through this survey in helping retailers to understand and comply with these provisions."

Check All Stores

"The method of conducting this survey in the apparel field will be similar to that used in the continuing survey of retail food prices." A Price Panel Assistant will call at every retail store which sells work clothing at a time when the store is not crowded with customers. The assistant will introduce herself to the manager or owner of the store and tell him the purpose of her visit. She will check his prices and call his attention to any that are higher than the established ceilings.

If prices in retail clothing store are above the ceilings, that fact will appear in the Price Panel Assistant's report. However, if he corrects his prices while the assistant is in the store, she will note it in her report. If the merchant refuses to correct his prices during the Assistant's visit, he will be called before the Local Price Panel.

The members of the Panel will discuss the prices with him and try to persuade him to correct them. If the merchant still refuses to correct his prices, his name will be sent to the District Office for enforcement action.

"Mr. Young also said that in many cases price violations are due to a misunderstanding of the provisions in a regulation. Usually, such violations are straightened out while the Price Panel Assistant is in the store or when the merchant is called before the Price Panel."

Seeks Old Saws To Make Knives For Use On Japs

Old, broken or unused circular saws are being converted into sheath knives for use of our fighting men in the Pacific by D. M. Hutchison, State College, whose son, Donald, is buried in Australia, the victim of a Jap.

Hutchison had broadcast throughout Pennsylvania his appeal for old, broken or unused saws in sizes from 14-inch to 40-inch. He has finished his $29th sheath knife and it will be sent on request to Frank N. Fagan, Jr., a school friend of Donald Hutchison now serving in the Pacific.

Mr. Hutchison says he has more than 1,000 requests for knives he has not yet been able to supply and he needs more old saws. The knives are not sold, they are sent post-free to members of our armed forces upon request.

On the list of business firms throughout the state that are acting as receiving agents for the saws which will be forwarded to Mr. Hutchison are the Central Chemical corporation, Gettysburg, and the Knouse corporation plants at Peach Glen and Chambersburg.

Donors may send their old saws direct to Mr. Hutchison by mailing them to board frames and sending them collect to the knife manufacturer.

Flyer Awaiting New Assignment

First Lt. Edgar T. Keffer, 23, of McSherrystown, has arrived at the Army Air Forces Redistribution Station No. 2, Miami Beach, Fla., for reassignment after completing a tour of duty outside the continental United States, an Army announcement disclosed today.

Medical examinations and classification interviews at the post, one of three redistribution stations operated by the AAF, for returned officers and enlisted men, will determine his new assignment. He will remain at Miami Beach for about two weeks.

Lieutenant Keffer's wife, Mrs. Louise C. Keffer, resides at 401 North street, McSherrystown. He was a pilot in the European theatre of war.

Donald Hershey, Cashtown, who is serving with the Navy, has been placed in charge of the tailor shop at Timpan and has been promoted to ship's service man's tailor, third class petty officer. Hershey was employed at Pitzer's tailor shop, center square, before his induction.

CANADIAN 1ST ARMY CAPTURES HOLLAND TOWN

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, Oct. 28 (AP)—Canadian first Army troops have captured Bergen Op Zoom, the western anchor of the German line in southwestern Holland, Supreme headquarters announced today while British troops neared Breda, last stronghold that might shield a German withdrawal across the Maas river, the Waal Rhine and their branches.

Allied forces continued to reinforce and expand their positions on the south coast of South Beeland island in the Schelde estuary, the communique said.

Allied fliers reported seeing many vehicles moving north from Breda indicating that the Germans—in the face of the terrific pressure—might be evacuating that city of 40,000 the south coast of South Beeland.

From a point four miles west of now-free 'S Hertogenbosch to the North sea, British and Canadian forces harried the retreating Germans.

The British drive on Breda was coupled with a breakthrough five miles north of Tilburg. Storming to Loon Op Zand, British armor in the breakthrough area was six miles due south of the Maas and 10 miles southeast of a vital bridge across that river at Geerttruidenberg.

Six miles east of Loon Op Zand another British column knifed beyond newly-captured Helvoet and reached the Afwaterings canal at a point four miles west of 'S Hertogenbosch.

Breda is 13 miles west of Tilburg. The highway connecting the two cities was cut at the half-point. Only a few enemy snipers remained last night in Tilburg, a rail and road center of 81,000 population. Cheerful throngs of Dutch greeted the British as they marched through the city.

Two Forces Join

Above Antwerp British and Canadian armor and infantry have linked in force. The British have thrust within two miles of Roosendaal from the southwest.

The German pocket on the south shore of the Schelde estuary dwindled as British troops pushed beyond Fort Frederik Hendrik.

American First Army units made minor gains north of Aachen in Germany. The U. S. Third army front in France was quiet except for the harassing fire of German big guns. Local gains were made on the Allied Sixth Army group front on the southern end of the Allied line.

AGENT MOVES HERE

Assistant County Agricultural Extension Agent Archibald Hug and Mrs. Hug came to Gettysburg today to establish their home. They will live in the Slaybaugh apartments, 33 East Middle street. Hug was in Jonestown, his former home, this week.

London, Oct. 28 (AP)—Two sharp air attacks hit Berlin last night a short time after Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, Nazi propaganda minister, completed a "battle to death" plea to the German nation.

ALLIED DRIVE TO 'BUST' NAZIS "ON ITS WAY"

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

For those who are anxious because the all-out Allied offensive hasn't yet started in western Europe, despite the fact that winter already is prowling about the fighting lines, let it be said that there's no cause to worry, for the drive is on its way.

Every time my vagrant telephone wakes me up these autumn nights I say to myself: "This will be the word that General Ike has let hell loose against Hitler." That's how close the assault seems to be.

The reason Eisenhower hasn't already struck is mainly due, as I see it, to the necessity of bringing up vast supplies under fierce handi-caps. We probably even are justified in saying that the Allies might be across the Rhine right now, headed for Unter Den Linden, if they had possessed the wherewithal when they first came up against the west wall in mid-September. That's not anybody's fault but is one of those ironic quirks of war over which nobody has control.

Ahead of Supplies

We outdistanced our supplies in the amazing hare-and-hound chase of the Nazis across broad France. Actually we were ahead of schedule when the hare went to ground in his own safety-zone.

Allied striking-power was temporarily short-circuited by coming up against the German frontier defenses. While the chase continued over open ground, our magnificent air and road transport kept us sufficiently supplied. But the Siegfried line is another proposition. It demands heavy equipment and mountains of material. That means not only air and road transport but railways—and don't forget that it calls for ports, because the Allied armies are dependent on sea-borne supplies.

Actually the Allied transport system has performed one of the wonders of military history. Lt. General Somervell, commander of the Army service forces, discloses that during the first 109 days of the invasion the Allies landed 2,500,000 troops, 500,000 vehicles, and 17,000,000 ship tons of munitions, vehicles and supplies. This is more than twice as much as general Pershing received all told in the last war.

Tons of Supplies

Those 109 days a bit more than covered the period of the Allied charge to the German frontier. However, you'll note that General Somervell says the troops and supplies were "landed" in the 109 days. This doesn't account for the titanic task of moving them—and subsequent cargoes—across France by air, by highways which the Nazis had damaged, and by railroads that still are far from normal.

Ever since the invading troops fought their way out of Normandy, endless lines of supplies have been following them faithfully. But the Allies have had to meet the huge daily needs of their armies, as well as pile up a reserve for the drive to the Rhine.

Naturally we aren't told how great that reserve has become. We do know the Allies have been hampered by inadequate port facilities. The bulk of the supplies have been going through Cherbourg and through the amazing Normandy beach-head harbors. But these ports are about 450 miles from the Allied front.

The Belgian port of Antwerp, which is one of the world's greatest, may shortly ease Eisenhower's problem. This city, which is on the river Scheldt, was captured intact by the Allies. It lies directly back of the Allied northern flank where the offensive is likely to be staged, and has good rail facilities to the front.

The difficulty has been that the Nazi big guns could reach the Scheldt estuary from neighboring Dutch territory and so prevent shipping from reaching Antwerp. However, the Canadian-British operations to oust the Germans from that part of Holland appear to be nearing a successful conclusion. This may hasten the launching of the big offensive.

Two Counties Go On Casualty List

Mr. and Mrs. William Shadle, Littlestown, received a letter on Monday last from their son, Pfc. Malcolm B. Shadle, 19, in which he stated he was wounded in the left hand October 2 and is now confined to a hospital in Italy. Pfc. Shadle's wife, the former Evelyn L. Ohler, who resides near Taneytown, with her daughter, has since received a telegram from the War Department notifying her of her husband's being wounded in action.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Staub, 125 Third street, Midway, received a telegram last night from Adjutant General James A. Ulio, telling them that their son, Pfc. Frederick C. Staub, 19, was slightly injured in Belgium on October 9.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

A marriage license was issued this morning at the office of Clerk of the Courts, Mrs. Howard W. Sheffer to Chester William Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lawrence, Gettysburg, and Agnes Sarah Kretz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Kretz, of Emmleburg.

Convert "Horror" Camp To Shelter

Vught, The Netherlands, Oct. 28 (AP) — The largest concentration camp in the Netherlands, where an estimated 30,000 persons died at the hands of German torturers, was being transformed into a shelter for refugees today by Allied civil affairs officials.

The 640-acre estate near Vught fell into Allied hands yesterday. Eyewitnesses said that on one occasion the Germans crowded 67 women into an airless, lightless room 12 feet by seven feet and eight feet high, for 13 hours. Twelve died, three became insane and 30 were hospitalized. Other inmates were beaten until their bones were broken, then ordered to line up for roll call.

HONORARY DISCHARGE

An honorary discharge from the United States Army was recorded this morning at the court house for the removal of her tonsils.

News Briefs

Stockholm, Oct. 28 (AP) — "Reports of Allied landing operations along the Norwegian coast already are so numerous it is impossible to deny them all," the German-controlled Scandinavian Telegraph Bureau reported today in announcing that blackout measures had been tightened throughout the country. Plans for the evacuation of civilians in northern Norway were said to involve 200,000 persons.

London, Oct. 28 (AP)—A representative of Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, Allied commander in the Mediterranean, has arrived in Moscow to take part in the Bulgarian armistice discussions, Moscow radio announced today.

London, Oct. 28 (AP) — The government announced today that persons evacuated from more than 50 coastal towns and districts when a German invasion of Britain was feared, might now return to their homes at government expense.

Champagne Cache Bring Court Martial

London, Oct. 28 (AP)—A cache of 1,000 bottles of champagne valued at $20 a bottle has bubbled into an investigation of cargoes brought from France on U. S. Army cargo planes. The rainsoaked cases were found by police behind a house in Chelmsford, Essex.

Customs officials questioned two United States air officers and communicated with a French airfield. It was stated that stricter inspection of Allied aircraft returning from France is likely.

The matter of stricter duties and purchase tax for property of American military men returning from France will be discussed in the House of Commons Tuesday as a result of the discovery.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Theresa Stock, Carlisle street, submitted to an operation at the Warner hospital this morning for the removal of her tonsils.

Other admissions included Mrs. Ralph Simpson, Gettysburg R. 5; Mrs. Kenneth Sanders, Fairfield R. 1; Mrs. William F. Quillian, 43 East Lincoln avenue; Mrs. James Harner, Littlestown; Mrs. Wayne Arnold, Littlestown, and Mrs. George E. Rue, Taneytown. Those discharged were Clifford Hartzell, Arendtville; Mrs. Raymond Hale and infant daughter, Margaret Ann, Arendtville; Mrs. Richard P. Kress and infant daughter, Janet Irene, Littlestown; Stanley Shafer, Gettysburg college, and Allen Trostle, Gettysburg R. 3.

RELIEF PAYMENTS

Direct relief payments made to needy residents of Adams county during the week ended today showed a decrease of $4.70 under those of the previous week. State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner reported. Payments for the week totaled $334.20, which was $33.80 more than those of the comparable week of last year. Current week payments were made in 60 checks.

OPA TO CHECK PRICES OF ALL WORK CLOTHES

A retail price survey of staple work clothing and work gloves will be made by OPA Price Panel Assistants in the Harrisburg 10-county District during the first half of November, W. C. Young, Acting District OPA Director, announced today.

"This program is the first National Price Panel program in the apparel field to determine compliance with retail price ceilings," Mr. Young said. "Its aim is to increase retailer compliance with the clothing regulations."

"During this program the retail prices of staple work clothing, including men's and boy's overalls, men's dungarees and overall jackets, and various styles of staple work gloves will be checked."

"Staple work clothing, and work gloves were chosen for the program because of their importance in the apparel field. These clothing items are covered by dollar-and-cents ceilings, which make price checking comparatively simple. Some provisions covering staple work clothing and gloves are relatively new, and the Price Panels can be of great assistance through this survey in helping retailers to understand and comply with these provisions."

Check All Stores

"The method of conducting this survey in the apparel field will be similar to that used in the continuing survey of retail food prices." A Price Panel Assistant will call at every retail store which sells work clothing at a time when the store is not crowded with customers. The assistant will introduce herself to the manager or owner of the store and tell him the purpose of her visit. She will check his prices and call his attention to any that are higher than the established ceilings.

If prices in retail clothing store are above the ceilings, that fact will appear in the Price Panel Assistant's report. However, if he corrects his prices while the assistant is in the store, she will note it in her report. If the merchant refuses to correct his prices during the Assistant's visit, he will be called before the Local Price Panel. The members of the Panel will discuss the prices with him and try to persuade him to correct them. If the merchant still refuses to correct his prices, his name will be sent to the District Office for enforcement action.

"Mr. Young also said that in many cases price violations are due to a misunderstanding of the provisions in a regulation. Usually, such violations are straightened out while the Price Panel Assistant is in the store or when the merchant is called before the Price Panel."

Seeks Old Saws To Make Knives For Use On Japs

Old, broken or unused circular saws are being converted into sheath knives for use of our fighting men in the Pacific by D. M. Hutchison, State College, whose son, Donald, is buried in Australia, the victim of a Jap.

Hutchison had broadcast throughout Pennsylvania his appeal for old, broken or unused saws in sizes from 14-inch to 40-inch. He has finished his 529th sheath knife and it will be sent on request to Frank N. Fagan, Jr., a school friend of Donald Hutchison now serving in the Pacific.

Mr. Hutchison says he has more than 1,000 requests for knives he has not yet been able to supply and he needs more old saws. The knives are not sold, they are sent post-free to members of our armed forces upon request.

On the list of business firms throughout the state that are acting as receiving agents for the saws which will be forwarded to Mr. Hutchison are the Central Chemical corporation, Gettysburg, and the Knouse corporation plants at Peach Glen and Chambersburg.

Donors may send their old saws direct to Mr. Hutchison by mailing them to board frames and sending them collect to the knife manufacturer.

Flyer Awaiting New Assignment

First Lt. Edgar T. Keffer, 28, of McSherrytown, has arrived at the Army Air Forces Redistribution Station No. 2, Miami Beach, Fla., for reassignment after completing a tour of duty outside the continental United States, an Army announcement disclosed today.

Medical examinations and classification interviews at the post, one of three redistribution stations operated by the AAF, for returned officers and enlisted men, will determine his new assignment. He will remain at Miami Beach for about two weeks.

Lieutenant Keffer's wife, Mrs. Louise C. Keffer, resides at 401 North street, McSherrytown. He was a pilot in the European theatre of war.

Donald Hershey, Cashtown, who is serving with the Navy, has been placed in charge of the tailor shop at Tinian and has been promoted to ship's service man's tailor, third class petty officer. Hershey was employed at Pitzer's tailor shop, center square, before his induction.

CANADIAN 1ST ARMY CAPTURES HOLLAND TOWN

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, Oct. 28 (AP)—Canadian first Army troops have captured Bergen Op Zoom, the western anchor of the German line in southwestern Holland, Supreme headquarters announced today while British troops neared Breda, last stronghold that might shield a German withdrawal across the Maas river, the Waal Rhine and their branches.

Allied forces continued to reinforce and expand their positions on the south coast of South Beeland island in the Schelde estuary, the communiqué said.

Allied fliers reported seeing many vehicles moving north from Breda indicating that the Germans—in the face of the terrific pressure—might be evacuating that city of 48,000 the south coast of South Beeland.

Nazis Retreating

From a point four miles west of now-free 'S Hertogenbosch to the North sea, British and Canadian forces harried the retreating Germans.

The British drive on Breda was coupled with a breakthrough five miles north of Tilburg. Storming to Loon Op Zand, British armor in the breakthrough area was six miles due south of the Maas and 10 miles southeast, of a vital bridge across that river at Geertruidenberg.

Six miles east of Loon Op Zand another British column knifed beyond newly-captured Helvoert and reached the Afwaterings canal at a point four miles west of 'S Hertogenbosch.

Breda is 13 miles west of Tilburg. The highway connecting the two cities was cut at the half-point. Only a few enemy snipers remained last night in Tilburg, a rail and road center of 31,000 population. Cheering throngs of Dutch greeted the British as they marched through the city.

Two Forces Join

Above Antwerp British and Canadian armor and infantry have linked in force. The British have thrust within two miles of Roosendaal from the southwest.

The German pocket on the south shore of the Schelde estuary dwindled as British troops pushed beyond Fort Frederik Hendrik.

American First Army units made minor gains north of Aachen in Germany. The U. S. Third army front in France was quiet except for the harassing fire of German big guns. Local gains were made on the Allied Sixth Army group front on the southern end of the Allied line.

AGENT MOVES HERE

Assistant County Agricultural Extension Agent Archibald Hug and Mrs. Hug came to Gettysburg today to establish their home. They will live in the Slagbaugh apartments, 33 East Middle street. Hug was in Jonestown, his former home, this week.

London, Oct. 28 (AP)—Two sharp air attacks hit Berlin last night a short time after Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, Nazi propaganda minister, completed a "battle to death" plea to the German nation.

Modern ships are protected against barnacles with anti-fouling paint; that discourages marine growth.

Miss Adams Lists Week's Schedule

Four group meetings for the week ending next Saturday are included in the itinerary of Miss Mildred L. Adams, home economics extension representative.

The first meeting will be with the Greenmount adult organization at the home of Mrs. Russell Rohrbaugh, Monday at 7:45 p. m. Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock she will meet with the Brushtown adult group for a food discussion at the home of Mrs. Charles Eyster. That evening at 8 o'clock the New Chester adult organization will meet with Mrs. George Millhines.

The Good Hope adult group will meet with Mrs. David March Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Adams will be in her office at the court house Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings, and all day Wednesday and Friday.

TEACHERS ARE

human life, especially in the youth of the land recommend that:

a. Guidance in its broad aspects, educational, ethical, civic, social and occupational be made available to every youth, and that every teacher accept responsibility for guidance.

b. Students in high school and college, if possible, remain until graduated.

c. Programs suited to particular needs of youth be developed to promote a welfare of those both in school and out of school.

d. Greater emphasis be placed on the following ideals: any socially useful work is honorable, mastery in any worthy undertaking is the minimum objective, mutual respects for the rights of individuals or groups is essential.

3. Our association go on record as urging the adoption and strict enforcement of adequate school attendance and child labor laws.

4. That we recommend that the presidents of the local branches of the PSEA in Adams county appoint a coordinating committee composed of two representatives from each local branch and that this committee shall meet at least four times a year to discuss association information and procedure.

5. That we reaffirm our faith in the principle of federal aid to education without federal control and urge Congress enact the Ranspelt bill, House resolution 2849, or similar legislation to the end that educational opportunity throughout the nation may be more nearly equalized and money rebate available to increase such standards and the salaries of teachers.

Endorse PSEA Program

6. That the Adams county local branch of the PSEA endorse in entirety the legislative program of the state organization which is to be presented to the 1945 legislature.

7. Be it resolved that article 7, section 1, of the constitution of the Adams county branch of the PSEA be amended to read as follows: "The executive council shall consist of 15 members, one from each sub-district who is elected to serve as chairman of that sub-district," and that article 7, section 2, of the constitution be amended to read as follows: "The legislative committee of the Adams county branch of the PSEA shall consist of three members appointed by the president, subject to the approval of the executive council."

8. We wish to go on record as heartily supporting the National Education association War and Peace fund and the uses to which it will be directed.

9. Be it resolved that our association direct its efforts towards securing an amendment to the federal income tax law exempting from federal taxation the retirement allowances of all persons who are or may be retired under local or state retirement systems, as is done in the case of certain other retirement systems, and secondly to provide that teachers and others paid in fewer than 12 installments be not penalized.

Commend Officials

10. That we commend the county superintendent of schools, J. Floyd Slagbaugh, and his assistant, Robert A. Bream, for the highly constructive and educational program conducted at this institute.

11. That we express our appreciation to the Warner Brothers Theatre company and its manager, Sydney J. Poppay; the Gettysburg hotel, and St. James Lutheran church for the use of their properties for the conducting of the institute.

12. That the teachers of the institute express thanks to Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer and the borough council for the courtesy extended to the teachers of Adams county for special parking privileges during the institute.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Sons were born at the Warner hospital this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Simpson, Gettysburg R. 5, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sanders, Fairfield R. 1.

On Friday sons were born at the hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Arnold, Littlestown, and Mr. and Mrs. George E. Rue, Taneytown.

Dr. and Mrs. William F. Quillian, 43 East Lincoln avenue, announce the birth of a daughter at the hospital Friday evening.

A daughter born Friday evening at the hospital to Mr. and Mrs. James Harner, Littlestown, died early this morning.

FDR TO OFFER "INDUCEMENT TAX" PROGRAM

By HOWARD FLIEGER
Enroute to Chicago with President Roosevelt, Oct. 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt turned his attention to post-war business today with indications he will outline an "inducement tax" policy in Chicago tonight intended to help private industry maintain full employment into the post-war era.

The chief executive, strolling in electric motor in Indiana and Illinois, moved to the west after an administration war policy speech in Philadelphia last night in which he accused some Republican politicians of putting "political advantage" above effort to guarantee future peace.

While he tolled on tonight's sequel to be delivered in Chicago's Soldiers Field—White House officials said it would be devoted largely to post-war cooperation between government and private industry for helping private enterprise through adjusted taxation, to maintain full payrolls after the boom of war-industries employment ends.

Platform Stops
Before he arrives in Chicago the President will make a brief platform appearance at Fort Wayne, Ind., and his train will slow down at Lima, Ohio, and Gary, Ind.

The chief executive wrote his Chicago speech as he rode today, probably still recalling the noisy reception in Philadelphia's jam-packed Shibe Park last night as he recounted his administration's preparedness and war record.

Mr. Roosevelt spoke partly as commander-in-chief. In that capacity, he emphasized, he chose the nation's present top commanders—men responsible for what he called 27 successful D-Days within the past year.

After checking over his administration's war record he declared to shouting Philadelphians that "some Republican politicians are saying that the Republicans in the Congress would cooperate with a Republican President in establishing a world organization for peace—clearly intimating that they would not cooperate toward the same end in the event of a Democratic victory."

Demobilization
In his personal appearance bid for Philadelphia support that will go toward placing Pennsylvania's important 35 electoral votes in the Democratic column, Mr. Roosevelt told the Shibe Park audience:

"When this great job in winning this war is done, the men of our armed forces will be demobilized and returned to their homes just as rapidly as possible."

It was an obvious rejoinder to Thomas E. Dewey's repeated assertion that the administration intends to slow the mustering-out pace after the war.

Mr. Roosevelt made no personal mention of Dewey—he hasn't in a speech since the campaign began—but in a point-by-point chronology of his administration's defense and war record he said "a Republican candidate x x x said that this administration has made absolutely no military preparations or preparations for the event it now claims it foresaw x x x in fact, he described your administration as the most spectacular collection of incompetent people who ever held public office."

"Well, now," said the President, "that is pretty serious. The only conclusion to be drawn from that is, we are losing the war. If so, that will be news to most of us—and it will certainly be news to Nazis and the Japs."

Emmitsburg
Emmitsburg—A memorial service for Sergeant John C. Felix was held at St. Joseph's Catholic church here at 9 a. m., Wednesday. A solemn high requiem mass was sung by the Rev. Fr. Francis Rogers, assisted by a Deacon and Sub-Deacon from Mt. St. Mary's college. A casket draped with an American flag was placed in front of the Sanctuary gates, and on each side of the casket was a large American flag. Two lighted candles were at the head and foot. Baskets of flowers were given in memory of the soldier by his wife and mother. Seminars from Mt. St. Mary's college sang the mass. Bernard Shaun presided at the organ.

Sgt. Felix was killed in action in France on the night of July 12. His wife, the former Miss Mary Rita Wivell, 101 De Paul street, has had several letters from Sgt. Edward A. Estrella, a "buddy" telling her of his sudden death from gun wounds, and of the removal of his body to the rear. There is no information as to where his body is buried.

Members from the Francis X. Elder Post No. 121 of the American Legion, Sisters from St. Joseph's high school, children from St. Euphemia school, accompanied by the Sisters, attended the services. The out of town people were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Riley, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. Edgar Riley, Mrs. John Sanders and Mr. Charles McKinley, all of Gettysburg, Mr. and Mrs. George Spring, of Mechanicsburg. The immediate family included Mrs. Virginia L. Felix, mother, and Miss Ida Mae Felix, sister, both of Gettysburg, and Mrs. John Felix, wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wivell, Miss Ann Wivell and Miss Adele Wivell, parents and sisters of Mrs. Felix.

Sergeant Felix would have been 22 years October 18. He entered the service January 8, 1943, and was sent overseas in May, 1943. He and Mrs. Felix were married October 31, 1942.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Jordan of St. Anthony's, have two sons overseas. Pvt. George R. arrived in England in August and after three days there was sent to France. SC 30 John William is in New Guinea.

Earl Eyer, R. 1, has been advised through the office of the Major General that his son, Clifford D. Eyer, who was wounded in active combat, was on September 30 making normal improvement. Mr. Eyer is permitted to send 5 words by cable to his son through the War department.

Hunterstown

Hunterstown—A Halloween social will be held in the Sunday school room of the Presbyterian church Friday evening at 7:30.

The Presbyterian Missionary society will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Zepp, Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

Frank Dearick was recently confined to his home in Gettysburg due to injuries received in a fall from a tree while picking apples in his orchard near here.

Miss Kathryn Swope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swope, of near town, is a patient at the Hanover hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heyser and son of Arlington, Virginia, spent Sunday in town.

Opl. Walter Geiman, who receives his mail in care of the postmaster, New York, N. Y., visited his wife and mother Mrs. Fra Geiman, Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harmon, Biglerville R. D., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Harmon, S 200 Clifford Harmon, U.S.S. Annetam farm produced 12 tons.

Detail, Newport, Rhode Island, also visited his grandparents.

DEWEY FAVORS INCREASE IN FARM PRODUCE

By JACK BELL
Syracuse, Oct. 28 (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declared today that "three square meals a day" for all of the American people would solve the peacetime farm problem by requiring a volume of food production above even that attained during the war.

The Republican presidential nominee, who came to the site of the annual New York State fair to speak in a high school auditorium seating fewer than 1,000 persons, said in an address prepared for delivery over a national (Blue) radio hookup that the nation must not "return to the substandard prices our farmers were still receiving after eight peacetime years of the New Deal in 1940."

"Despite our war prosperity," the governor said, "millions of families in America do not get enough of the right things to eat. We still have further to go. We must never go back to the scarcity theories and shrinking economy of the New Deal years."

Dewey planned delivery of his once-postponed major agricultural speech to stop in Utica for a brief address on his way back to Albany. He had planned originally to deliver his farm talk in Minneapolis, but delayed it to answer a foreign policy speech by President Roosevelt.

"Two Men In One Job"
Although the President spoke in Philadelphia last night, the GOP candidate made no direct attempt to answer any of his opponent's statements, except to repeat his assertion that there was "backsliding, chaos and confusion in Washington" and to reiterate the Republicans' intention to "bring our fighting men home promptly when victory is achieved."

"It took a war to get decent farm prices, just as it took a war to get jobs," Dewey declared.

Declaring President Roosevelt often put "two men in one job," the candidate said the executive orders which had given the secretary of agriculture and the food administrator co-equal powers had caused the country to lose "a first-class man" in Chester Davis, food administrator. Davis, he said, resigned with the statement that he had—and here Dewey quoted—"assumed a public responsibility while the authority, not only over broad food policy, but day-to-day actions, is being exercised elsewhere."

Before he left Albany, Dewey issued a call yesterday for a special session of the New York legislature to convene Monday noon to extend to 9 p. m. the closing time for polls in the November 7 election.

COUPONS, PLEASE!
Ogden, Utah, Oct. 28 (AP) — Workers digging a foundation struck a gasoline "well." Farmers said the gasoline had leaked from nearby storage tanks.

At first the liquid was pumped into the sewer. Then somebody filled his automobile tank and others followed suit.

OPA officials warned that persons taking the gasoline must surrender coupons, but nobody did.

PUMPKIN CENTER

Punkin Center, Okla., Oct. 28 (AP) —This trading post is all that its name implies, take it from Claude Sullivan, Nowata county agent.

Farmers are harvesting bright red-yellow pumpkins by the thousands. One acre on the J. O. Dale Clifford Harmon, U.S.S. Annetam farm produced 12 tons.

"That's the biggest field I've ever seen," said the county agent.

ARGENTINE IN PEACE GESTURE

Buenos Aires, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Argentine government announced last night it had asked the Pan-American Union in Washington to call a conference of foreign ministers of all American nations to consider Argentina's international status and seek an "adequate solution."

"It has been alleged," said a memorandum forwarded to all foreign ministers, "that Argentina has not fulfilled its international obligations, which fact x x x involves a problem which interests not one country, nor a group of countries, but the entire continent."

While declaring that Argentina would "receive in a cordial spirit any initiative tending to accuante the collaboration among the nations," the statement made clear that "in no case can the adoption of measures of internal order, related to the juridical and institutional regime of this country, be matters of international negotiation."

The foreign ministry said the request for the convocation was made in a note handed by the Argentine Charge D'Affairs in Washington, Rodolfo Garcia-Amas, to the Pan-American Union.

The statement declared the conference would afford all countries "an opportunity to explain their points of view."

(U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull last Sept. 7 at a news conference declared Argentina was headquarters for a Fascist movement in this hemisphere. Argentina since the beginning of the war has declined to participate in plans for hemispheric defense.)

Announce Sixth Shipment Of Furs

Miss Margaret McMillan announced today the shipment of the sixth lot of furs collected by the local chapter of the American Red Cross for the fur vest project for merchant seamen.

The furs, which were donated this time by nine individuals in the county, are sent to New York where the fur industry makes the pelts into fur vests for free distribution to the merchant marine. Each donor receives a miniature certificate of cooperation similar to the one issued this year to the local Red Cross chapter for its part in the collection.

Included in the shipment today were pieces of fur coats, scarves, coat collars and muffs. All kinds of furs are still needed, Miss McMillan said, and donations may be brought or sent to the Red Cross office on Baltimore street at any time.

RUSSIAN TROOPS NEAR SLOVAKIA

Moscow, Oct. 28 (AP) — Russian mountain troops were driving across the threshold of Slovakia today after virtually completing the conquest of Hungarian-annexed Ruthenia with the capture of Ungvár, its chief city and former capital.

Seizure of Ungvár gave Gen. Ivan Petrov's fourth Ukrainian army a southern terminus for a supply route through the Carpathian mountains by way of the Uzek pass for an accelerated effort to reach the isolated Czechoslovak patriots resistance forces at Banska Bystrica, 140 miles west, now linked with the Allies only by plane.

Twenty-five miles north of Ungvár other units of Petrov's Army penetrated six miles into Slovakia, capturing the town of Starana, in the Orzka valley nine miles northwest of Ulie, taken along with 48 other localities.

The only Russian progress of any consequence in East Prussia appeared to be on the secondary road west of Pilkallen where the capture of Kussen put Chernishorsk's forces deep on the northern flank of enemy defenses concentrated around Gumbinnen.

The midnight Soviet war bulletin said the Russians, beating off numerous counterattacks by large forces of German infantry and armor, killed 3,600 Nazis, making a two-day total of 5,800.

The chief executive wrote his Chicago speech as he rode today, probably still recalling the noisy reception in Philadelphia's jam-packed Shibe Park last night as he recounted his administration's preparedness and war record.

Mr. Roosevelt spoke partly as commander-in-chief. In that capacity, he emphasized, he chose the nation's present top commanders—men responsible for what he called 27 successful D-Days within the past year.

After checking over his administration's war record he declared to shouting Philadelphians that "some Republican politicians are stating that the Republicans in the Congress would cooperate with a Republican President in establishing a world organization for peace—clearly intimating that they would not cooperate toward the same end in the event of a Democratic victory."

Demobilization

In his personal appearance bid for Philadelphia support that will go toward placing Pennsylvania's important 35 electoral votes in the Democratic column, Mr. Roosevelt told the Shibe Park audience:

"When this great job in winning this war is done, the men of our armed forces will be demobilized and returned to their homes just as rapidly as possible."

It was an obvious rejoinder to Thomas E. Dewey's repeated assertion that the administration intends to slow the mustering-out pace after the war.

Mr. Roosevelt made no personal mention of Dewey—he hasn't in a speech since the campaign began—but in a point-by-point chronology of his administration's defense and war record he said "a Republican candidate x x x said that this administration has made absolutely no military preparations or preparations for the event it now claims it foresaw x x x in fact, he described your administration as the most spectacular collection of incompetent people who ever held public office."

"Well, now," said the President, "that is pretty serious. The only conclusion to be drawn from that is, we are losing the war. If so, that will be news to most of us—and it will certainly be news to Nazis and the Japs."

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg—A memorial service for Sergeant John C. Felix was held at St. Joseph's Catholic church here at 9 a. m., Wednesday. A solemn high requiem mass was sung by the Rev. Fr. Francis Rogers, assisted by a Deacon and Sub-Deacon from Mt. St. Mary's college. A casket draped with an American flag was placed in front of the Sanctuary gates, and on each side of the casket was a large American flag. Two lighted candles were at the head and foot. Baskets of flowers were given in memory of the soldier by his wife and mother. Seminars from Mt. St. Mary's college sang the mass. Bernard Shaun presided at the organ.

Sgt. Felix was killed in action in France on the night of July 12. His wife, the former Miss Mary Rita Wivell, 101 De Paul street, has had several letters from S. Sgt. Edward A. Estrella, a "buddy" telling her of his sudden death from gun wounds, and of the removal of his body to the rear. There is no information as to where his body is buried.

Members from the Francis X. Elder Post No. 121 of the American Legion, Sisters from St. Joseph's high school, children from St. Euphemia school, accompanied by the Sisters, attended the services. The out of town people were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Riley, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. Edgar Riley, Mrs. John Sanders and Mr. Charles McKinley, all of Gettysburg, Mr. and Mrs. George Sprigg, of Mechanicsburg. The immediate family included Mrs. Virginia L. Felix, mother, and Miss Ida Mae Felix, sister, both of Gettysburg, and Mrs. John Felix, wife. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wivell, Miss Ann Wivell and Miss Adele Wivell, parents and sisters of Mrs. Felix.

Sergeant Felix would have been 22 years October 18. He entered the service January 8, 1943, and was sent overseas in May, 1943. He and Mrs. Felix were married October 31, 1942.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Jordan of St. Anthony's, have two sons overseas. Pvt. George R. arrived in England in August and after three days there was sent to France. SC/3c John William, is in New Guinea.

Earl Eyer, R. 1, has been advised through the office of the Major General that his son, Clifford D. Eyer, who was wounded in active combat, was on September 30 making normal improvement. Mr. Eyer is permitted to send 5 words by cable to his son through the War department.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heyser and son of Arlington, Virginia, spent Sunday in town.

Cpl. Walter Geiman, who receives his mail in care of the postmaster, New York, N. Y., visited his wife and mother Mrs. Eva Geiman, Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harmon, Biglerville R. D.; spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Harmon, S. 2 of Clifford Harmon, U.S.S. Antietam Detail, Newport, Rhode Island, also visited his grandparents.

DEWEY FAVORS INCREASE IN FARM PRODUCE

By JACK BELL

Syracuse, Oct. 28 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declared today that "three square meals a day" for all of the American people would solve the peacetime farm problem by requiring a volume of food production above even that attained during the war.

The Republican presidential nominee, who came to the site of the annual New York State fair to speak in a high school auditorium seating fewer than 1,000 persons, said in an address prepared for delivery over a national (Blue) radio hookup that the nation must not "return to the substandard prices our farmers were still receiving after eight peacetime years of the New Deal in 1940."

"Despite our war prosperity," the governor said, "millions of families in America do not get enough of the right things to eat. We still have further to go. We must never go back to the scarcity theories and shrinking economy of the New Deal years."

Dewey planned after delivery of his once-postponed major agricultural speech to stop in Utica for a brief address on his way back to Albany. He had planned originally to deliver his farm talk in Minneapolis, but delayed it to answer a foreign policy speech by President Roosevelt.

"Two Men In One Job"

Although the President spoke in Philadelphia last night, the GOP candidate made no direct attempt to answer any of his opponent's statements, except to repeat his assertion that there was "bickering, chaos and confusion in Washington" and to reiterate the Republicans' intention to "bring our fighting men home promptly when victory is achieved."

"It took a war to get decent farm prices, just as it took a war to get jobs," Dewey declared.

Declaring President Roosevelt often put "two men in one job," the candidate said the executive orders which had given the secretary of agriculture and the food administrator co-equal powers had caused the country to lose "a first class man" in Chester Davis, food administrator. Davis, he said, resigned with the statement that he had—and here Dewey quoted—"assumed a public responsibility while the authority, not only over broad food policy, but day-to-day actions, is being exercised elsewhere."

Before he left Albany, Dewey issued a call yesterday for a special session of the New York legislature to convene Monday noon to extend to 9 p. m. the closing time for polls in the November 7 election.

COUPONS, PLEASE!

Ogden, Utah, Oct. 28 (AP)—Workers digging a foundation struck a gasoline "well." Firemen said the gasoline had leaked from nearby storage tanks.

At first the liquid was pumped into the sewer. Then somebody filled his automobile tank and others followed suit.

OPA officials warned that persons taking the gasoline must surrender coupons, but nobody did.

ARGENTINE IN PEACE GESTURE

Buenos Aires, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Argentine government announced last night it had asked the Pan-American Union in Washington to call a conference of foreign ministers of all American nations to consider Argentina's international status and seek an "adequate solution."

"It has been alleged," said a memorandum forwarded to all foreign ministers, "that Argentina has not fulfilled its international obligations, which fact x x x involves a problem which interests not one country, nor a group of countries, but the entire continent."

While declaring that Argentina would "receive in a cordial spirit any initiative tending to accentuate the collaboration among the nations," the statement made clear that "in no case can the adoption of measures of internal order, related to the juridical and institutional regime of this country, be matters of international negotiation."

The foreign ministry said the request for the convocation was made in a note handed by the Argentine Charge d'Affaires in Washington, Rodolfo Garcia-Arias, to the Pan-American Union.

The statement declared the conference would afford all countries "an opportunity to explain their points of view."

(U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull last Sept. 7 at a news conference declared Argentina was headquarters for a Fascist movement in this hemisphere. Argentina since the beginning of the war has declined to participate in plans for hemispheric defense.)

Announce Sixth Shipment of Furs

Miss Margaret McMillan announced today the shipment of the sixth lot of furs collected by the local chapter of the American Red Cross for the fur vest project for merchant seamen.

The furs, which were donated this time by nine individuals in the county, are sent to New York where the fur industry makes the pelts into fur vests for free distribution to the merchant marine. Each donor receives a miniature certificate of cooperation similar to the one issued this year to the local Red Cross chapter for its part in the collection.

Included in the shipment today were pieces of fur coats, scarves, coat collars and muffs. All kinds of furs are still needed. Miss McMillan said, and donations may be brought or sent to the Red Cross office on Baltimore street at any time.

RUSSIAN TROOPS NEAR SLOVAKIA

Moscow, Oct. 28 (AP)—Russian mountain troops were driving across the threshold of Slovakia today after virtually completing the conquest of Hungarian-annexed Ruthenia with the capture of Umgar, its chief city and former capital.

Seizure of Umgar gave Gen. Ivan Petrov's fourth Ukrainian army a southern terminus for a supply route through the Carpathian mountains by way of the Uozk pass for an accelerated effort to reach the isolated Czechoslovak patriot resistance forces at Banska Bystrica, 140 miles west, now linked with the Allies only by plane.

Twenty-five miles north of Umgar other units of Petrov's Army penetrated six miles into Slovakia, capturing the town of Starina, in the Ciroka valley nine miles northwest of Ulic, taken along with 48 other localities.

The only Russian progress of any consequence in East Prussia appeared to be on the secondary road west of Pilkallen where the capture of Kussen put Cherniakovsky's forces deep on the northern flank of enemy defenses concentrated around Gumbinnen.

The midnight Soviet war bulletin said the Russians, beating off numerous counterattacks by large forces of German infantry and armor, killed 3,000 Nazis, making a two-day total of 5,800.

A zoo elephant has been known to consume 200 pounds of hay a day.

FDR TO OFFER "INDUCEMENT TAX" PROGRAM

By HOWARD FLIEGER

Enroute to Chicago with President Roosevelt, Oct. 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt turned his attention to post-war business today with indications he will outline an "inducement tax" policy in Chicago tonight intended to help private industry maintain full employment into the post-war era.

The chief executive, stalling 41 electoral votes in Indiana and Illinois, moved to the west after an administration war policy speech in Philadelphia last night in which he accused some Republican politicians of putting "political advantage" above effort to guarantee future peace.

While he toiled on tonight's sequel to be delivered in Chicago's Soldiers Field—White House officials said it would be devoted largely to post-war cooperation between government and private industry for helping private enterprise through adjusted taxation, to maintain full payrolls after the boom of war-industries employment ends.

Platform Stops

Before he arrives in Chicago the President will make a brief platform appearance at Fort Wayne, Ind., and his train will slow down at Lima, Ohio, and Gary, Ind.

The chief executive wrote his Chicago speech as he rode today, probably still recalling the noisy reception in Philadelphia's jam-packed Shibe Park last night as he received his administration's prepared press and war record.

Mr. Roosevelt spoke partly as commander-in-chief. In that capacity, he emphasized, he chose the nation's present top commanders—men responsible for what he called 27 successful D-Days within the past year.

After checking over his administration's war record he declared to shouting Philadelphians that "some Republican politicians are stating that the Republicans in the Congress would cooperate with a Republican President in establishing a world organization for peace—clearly intimating that they would not cooperate toward the same end in the event of a Democratic victory."

ARGENTINE IN PEACE GESTURE

Buenos Aires, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Argentine government announced last night it had asked the Pan-American Union in Washington to call a conference of foreign ministers of all American nations to consider Argentina's international status and seek an "adequate solution."

"It has been alleged," said a memorandum forwarded to all foreign ministers, "that Argentina has not fulfilled its international obligations, which fact x x x involves a problem which interests not one country, nor a group of countries, but the entire continent."

While declaring that Argentina would "receive in a cordial spirit any initiative tending to accentuate the collaboration among the nations," the statement made clear that "in no case can the adoption of measures of internal order, related to the juridical and institutional regime of this country, be matters of international negotiation."

The foreign ministry said the request for the convocation was made in a note handed by the Argentine Charge D'Affairs in Washington, Rodolfo Garcia-Arias, to the Pan-American Union.

The statement declared the conference would afford all countries "an opportunity to explain their points of view."

(U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull last Sept. 7 at a news conference declared Argentina was headquarters for a Fascist movement in this hemisphere. Argentina since the beginning of the war has declined to participate in plans for hemispheric defense.)

Announce Sixth Shipment of Furs

Miss Margaret McMillan announced today the shipment of the sixth lot of furs collected by the local chapter of the American Red Cross for the fur vest project for merchant seamen.

The furs, which were donated this time by nine individuals in the county, are sent to New York where the fur industry makes the pelts into fur vests for free distribution to the merchant marine. Each donor receives a miniature certificate of cooperation similar to the one issued this year to the local Red Cross chapter for its part in the collection.

Included in the shipment today were pieces of fur coats, scarves, coat collars and muffs. All kinds of furs are still needed. Miss McMillan said, and donations may be brought or sent to the Red Cross office on Baltimore street at any time.

East Berlin

East Berlin—Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stambaugh and Miss Minerva Trostie had as supper guests at their home Friday: John Grove and daughter, Williamsport, and Mrs. Cole, Troy.

The eighth birthday of Ruth Brandt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Y. Brandt, was celebrated Friday at her home.

Mrs. Arthur L. Bubb is able to be about following an illness of six weeks.

Mrs. Augustine J. Tierney has received word that her brother, John J. Kuhn, a frequent visitor to this section, is confined to his home. Great Neck, L. I., N. Y., suffering with a fractured ankle sustained when he tripped on his sidewalk which was broken by the recent hurricane.

Mrs. Ellen S. King and daughter, Mrs. Allen H. Menges, made a trip to York during the week.

Mrs. Mary Emig Hull, Mrs. Edna M. Jacob, Mrs. Loretta Chronister Lucabaugh, and the Misses Faye L. Kruit and Dolly M. McIntire have been assisting Miss Ruth Ziegler, captain, as solicitors for the War Fund Drive in this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Fleming R. 2, visited during the week in York. Cyprian Gebhart, Hanover R. 1, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Gebhart, formerly of this section, has been under treatment at the Hanover hospital for injuries sustained last week in an accident which occurred while he was working on his farm.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hinkle, R. 2, had as a recent guest her brother, James Sheriff, Rhode Island, who has been in San Diego, Calif., with the Navy.

Maurice Gochenauer is planning to leave his farm near here shortly and make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Ralph Sealover, Franklin town.

William A. Ruth, Sr., Spring Grove, formerly of here, visited in this section during the week. His son, William, USN, is serving somewhere in the South Pacific area.

T. Sgt. Ruth A. Kuhn, WAC, Brooklyn, N. Y., daughter of the late Dr. George A. Kuhn, a native of this section is serving in the South Pacific area, according to word received this week by local relatives.

Robert Volland, USA, arrived home by plane from California during the past week to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Carroll Volland, and his sister, Mrs. Robert Sealover. He was called here because of the recent death of Mrs. Sealover's young son, Jimmy.

RUSSIAN TROOPS NEAR SLOVAKIA

Moscow, Oct. 28 (AP)—Russian mountain troops were driving across the threshold of Slovakia today after virtually completing the conquest of Hungarian-annexed Ruthenia with the capture of Umgvar, its chief city and former capital.

Seizure of Umgvar gave Gen. Ivan Petrov's fourth Ukrainian army a southern terminus for a supply route through the Carpathian mountains by way of the Uzk pass for an accelerated effort to reach the isolated Czechoslovak patriot resistance forces at Banska Bystrica, 140 miles west, now linked with the Allies only by plane.

Twenty-five miles north of Umgvar other units of Petrov's Army penetrated six miles into Slovakia, capturing the town of Starina, in the Ciroka valley nine miles northwest of Ulic, taken along with 48 other localities.

The only Russian progress of any consequence in East Prussia appeared to be on the secondary road west of Pilkallen where the capture of Kussen put Cherniakovsky's forces deep on the northern flank of enemy defenses concentrated around Gumbinnen.

The midnight Soviet war bulletin said the Russians, beating off numerous counterattacks by large forces of German infantry and armor, killed 3,000 Nazis, making a two-day total of 5,800.

A zoo elephant has been known to consume 200 pounds of hay a day.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TEN YEARS AGO
Dr. W. E. Tilberg Talks at Eastern Star Banquet: Seventy-five men and women attended the tenth anniversary banquet of the Gettysburg chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, at the Blue Parrot tea room, Friday evening. Mrs. Carl Martz, worthy matron of the lodge, gave the address of welcome and introduced the toastmaster, Dr. Frank Kramer, worthy patron of the local lodge.

The principal speaker was Dr. W. E. Tilberg, dean at Gettysburg college.

Group singing was led by Mrs. Lloyd C. Keefeauver. Mrs. George Bender gave several humorous readings.

Mt. Joy Couple Is Married Saturday: Miss Elizabeth Morelock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morelock, and Kenneth Stair, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Stair, both of Mt. Joy township, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at the parsonage of the Grace Lutheran church by the Rev. J. M. Myers.

Martz-Waybright: Richard K. Martz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Martz, Hanover, and Miss Mary Waybright, daughter of Oliver J. Waybright, Gettysburg R. 3, were united in marriage on Saturday evening at 6:45 o'clock in Faith Reformed church, York. The ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Edmund Lippy, pastor.

New Manager of Hammaker Branch Here: Alfred Harrison Barr, of Wheaton, Illinois, has become associated with Hammaker Brothers, memorial craftsmen, and is now in charge of the Gettysburg branch, 76 Steinwehr avenue, and adjacent Pennsylvania territory.

Mr. Barr, a native of Philadelphia, is a graduate of Williamson school. Preparing for the architectural profession, he was attracted to the stone industry. Mr. Barr succeeds Frank Hammaker, who was in charge of the Gettysburg branch for many years, associated with his brother, Ernest, in Hammaker Brothers firm.

Local People Are Honored by Lutherans: Savannah, Ga., Oct. 23 (AP)—Results of elections to boards and committees of the United Lutheran church in America, announced today at the biennial convention include:

Board of publication, Dr. John Aberly, Gettysburg.
Board of deaconess work, Dr. H. D. Hoover, Gettysburg, clergy member, and Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars.

Senior Band Nets $212 from Bazaar: The senior band of Gettysburg netted $212.13 from its recent bazaar. The proceeds will be used to purchase uniforms for the musicians.

County Man Is Married Wednesday: Robert E. Daugherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Daugherty, Gettysburg R. 2, and Miss Helen F. Maxwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Maxwell, of Emmitsburg, Maryland, were married at 5:30 o'clock Wednesday evening at the parsonage of Elias Lutheran church, Emmitsburg, by the Rev. Philip Bower.

Mr. Daugherty is employed as a clerk at Zerling's hardware store, center square.

Sells 66-Acre Farm: Mrs. Lida C. Goodbread has sold her 66-acre farm with equipment and crops to H. N. Odert, of Manassas. The farm is located in Butler township. Possession will be given November 30. The sale was made by C. A. Heiges, Buford avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weaver have as their guest at their home in the Blocher apartments, Mrs. Leon Tschantre, of Eastern Shore.

Riding with Russell

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL, Member S. A. E.

Fuel is ammunition but millions of needless no-parking signs go right on wasting it.

Overlooked A Few
People who have "tried everything" in a desperate effort to solve car problems remind me of those who like to think they are "at the end of their rope." Just let me mention a few of the things one motorist had failed to consider as causes of overheating at a time when he felt that he had left no possible stone unturned:

He had not checked ignition timing to see if it was late. He had not considered the possibility of clogged water passages in the cylinder head. Excessive accumulations of carbon had not been given a place on his list, nor had he figured on a leak around the cylinder head gasket. Yet he had "tried everything!"

Why Plugs Go Bad

Spark plugs burning? There are several causes which you should then immediately check into. Your ignition timing, for instance, may be too far advanced, causing preignition and more rapid eating away of the electrodes. There may be a leak in the intake manifold. The engine may run too hot. Air to the intake may be too hot. Or the plugs may be too loose, or have a cracked gasket or two.

The Motor Primer

Now that motorists are being obliged to retard the timing a bit (after correcting all mechanical troubles) to check excessive knocking from wartime gasoline the question arises in the minds of many as to why it is desirable to advance timing at all. The answer lies in understanding that the spark must be timed to arrive early for the reason that combustion of gasoline vapor within the cylinders never is instantaneous. There is a measurable time required for burning all the vapor, and thus of deriving full benefit from such combustion. To make this possible the spark is timed to arrive a little earlier than it should. Just how far advanced the spark can be, without knocking, depends not only on the engine's condition, the way the car is handled, and the job the car has to do, but on the detonation characteristics of the gasoline itself. Right now the octane rating is a bit low for comfort—way below what is reasonable for the sort of engines we are using.

Mechanic Joe Speaking
The over-crowded condition of my shop has at least one advantage. That is the chance I have to know first hand why customers' cars are not starting well. You know how it has been in the past. You give me the whole story but may overlook some little detail that would be the tipoff to the cause of starting delay. But you never left the car over night and so I never had first hand experience with it.

"Now I have to start some of the cars before I can get down to business for the day. They crowd the doorway and take up space. So I get at the wheel and soon find out what's wrong. Found one job with a choke that stuck open. On another car the fast idle control didn't work. Another job was sensitive to moisture from condensation. Soon as I wiped off the tops of the plugs the engine started."

Don't—And Why

Every instruction book stresses the fact that the crankcase should not be overfilled, but I have seldom found any explanations as to why this precaution should be observed. You might think of an over-supply as a blessing, but actually when there is too much oil the connecting rods dip into the oil and whirl it to the cylinder walls in such quantity as to overtax the piston rings. That means more carbon in the cylinders and a good likelihood that the plug points will become fouled. There is also a tendency for the oil to foam when it gets into the way of the whirling motor parts. This foaming is especially bad for hydraulic valve lifters since the air that gets into the oil destroys the cushioning effect and the lifters do not succeed in maintaining tappet clearance at zero.

One For The Book

Hope you don't have to have the engine torn down for a ring job but should you be in this boat, and then suffer the worry of a spell of overheating, I think you'll be interested to learn that use of thick piston rings in shallow grooves is a cause of heating which some old timers still remember. Usually, however, the trouble is due merely to the extra pressure of the new rings on the cylinder walls. This can be minimized by use of special break-in oil and a slightly richer mixture to take care of the drag which should disappear in a few thousand miles.

They're Strictly Taboo

Because so many cars are nearing the end of their life of usefulness there will be more of temptation this fall than ever before to try to save on good brands of antifreeze by using some of the things that are strictly on the taboo list. In case you feel the urge to experiment, and don't recall just what isn't according to Hoyle, let me list them for you. Topping the list is kerosene, which is not only bad for the cooling system but a bit on the dangerous side since it is a fuel. Out also are sugar and salt. Honey and glucose, with water, are nothing for you to consider. Likewise oil.

Keep This In Mind

A useful little idea when checking for a faulty spark plug is to wipe off the exposed portions of all the plugs first. This will eliminate any moisture, and any dirt that is holding moisture, so that there is no likelihood of high tension current jumping across the tops. In testing, the trick is to short out one or two plugs at a time. Plugs that are defective won't make the engine run worse when they are shorted out. Good ones will, on the contrary, make the engine limp more when shorted. Where there are eight or more cylinders it is often necessary to short two plugs at a time, rather than just one, due to the fact that it is harder to detect misses in an engine with more cylinders.

Basis For Knocking

Those who are trying to bridge us gently over the period of this era of low octane wartime gasoline emphasize the fact that much "pinging" (we really ought to call it knocking) is due to wear on the distributor. Effect of this wear is to cause ignition timing to advance too far. Here's exactly how it happens:

Suppose your job has a vacuum control of the timing to retard the ignition when you have to accelerate. If there is a weak spring in this mechanism, or if the line is leaky or obstructed, ignition won't retard fast enough when you accelerate. Suppose the job has centrifugal advance mechanism for advance of the spark under favorable conditions. Any weakness of the springs or wear on them would cause ignition to advance too far. That would bring a knock.

In the vacuum control consider also wear or stickage of the breaker plate ball race or trouble with the linkage. This is all found in the distributor itself.

AFTERWARDS

'Tis said of those who pass away:
They've done with loss and gain
And scornful words their foes may say
And fear and grief and pain.

'Tis said they've found eternal bliss
And deep content and peace,
And walk a better world than this
Where all men's quarrels cease.

And that is why they seem to smile
And show no sign of tears
They've learned how brief the little while
They measured here in years.

Today's Talk

THAT "CHIP" ON YOUR SHOULDER

The most disturbing and unwelcome sort of person to meet, or talk with, is that one who always seems to have a "chip" on his shoulder. The person with resentment ready at the least suggestion to draw him out.

The world owes him a living (or so he thinks) and so do you! No matter what you discuss, he disagrees with you. You are wrong and he is right. He is intolerant, and is glad of it. He wants you to be sure and make no mistake about it. You don't!

The European continent has always been a hotbed of intrigue and trouble, because of this very thing. Hardly a nation over there that doesn't live with a "chip" on its shoulder—daring some other nation to knock it off, so that there can be a fight of some sort or other. There can never be permanent peace in Europe so long as this condition lasts. And only the millennium can cure such a situation. The unfortunate thing about it all is that no one knows just when the millennium is to come!

As individuals it is entirely different. We can refuse to carry a "chip" on our shoulder at any time. And we can also refuse to flip it off from any man's shoulder. We can be self-controlled. We can be tolerant. We can be considerate and understanding. We can be big in heart!

Resentment starts all too many unhappy events. We resent the other fellow's ability, his success, or good fortune. We resent the fact that he is willing to work harder, thus achieving more than we do. We resent his so-called luck. Mostly it is character that lifts one man above another.

We gain the most happiness for ourselves by always being glad of the other fellow's success, glad that he is self-dependent, glad that he has had good fortune, and glad that he has done something to help inspire us. No one can be happy carrying a "chip" around on his shoulder. It's defeatism, pure and simple.

Just Folks

AFTERWARDS

'Tis said of those who pass away:
They've done with loss and gain
And scornful words their foes may say
And fear and grief and pain.

'Tis said they've found eternal bliss
And deep content and peace,
And walk a better world than this
Where all men's quarrels cease.

And that is why they seem to smile
And show no sign of tears
They've learned how brief the little while
They measured here in years.

Today's Talk

THAT "CHIP" ON YOUR SHOULDER

The most disturbing and unwelcome sort of person to meet, or talk with, is that one who always seems to have a "chip" on his shoulder. The person with resentment ready at the least suggestion to draw him out.

The world owes him a living (or so he thinks) and so do you! No matter what you discuss, he disagrees with you. You are wrong and he is right. He is intolerant, and is glad of it. He wants you to be sure and make no mistake about it. You don't!

The European continent has always been a hotbed of intrigue and trouble, because of this very thing. Hardly a nation over there that doesn't live with a "chip" on its shoulder—daring some other nation to knock it off, so that there can be a fight of some sort or other. There can never be permanent peace in Europe so long as this condition lasts. And only the millennium can cure such a situation. The unfortunate thing about it all is that no one knows just when the millennium is to come!

As individuals it is entirely different. We can refuse to carry a "chip" on our shoulder at any time. And we can also refuse to flip it off from any man's shoulder. We can be self-controlled. We can be tolerant. We can be considerate and understanding. We can be big in heart!

Resentment starts all too many unhappy events. We resent the other fellow's ability, his success, or good fortune. We resent the fact that he is willing to work harder, thus achieving more than we do. We resent his so-called luck. Mostly it is character that lifts one man above another.

We gain the most happiness for ourselves by always being glad of the other fellow's success, glad that he is self-dependent, glad that he has had good fortune, and glad that he has done something to help inspire us. No one can be happy carrying a "chip" around on his shoulder. It is defeatism, pure and simple.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times

TEN YEARS AGO

Dr. W. E. Tilberg Talks at Eastern Star Banquet: Seventy-five men and women attended the tenth anniversary banquet of the Gettysburg chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, at the Blue Parrot tea room, Friday evening. Mrs. Carl Martz, worthy matron of the lodge, gave the address of welcome and introduced the toastmaster, Dr. Frank Kramer, worthy patron of the local lodge.

The principal speaker was Dr. W. E. Tilberg, dean at Gettysburg college.

Group singing was led by Mrs. Lloyd C. Keefeauver. Mrs. George Bender gave several humorous readings.

Mt. Joy Couple Is Married Saturday: Miss Elizabeth Morelock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morelock, and Kenneth Stair, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Stair, both of Mt. Joy township, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at the parsonage of the Grace Lutheran church by the Rev. J. M. Myers.

Martz-Waybright: Richard K. Martz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Martz, Hanover, and Miss Mary Waybright, daughter of Oliver J. Waybright, Gettysburg R. 3, were united in marriage on Saturday evening at 6:45 o'clock in Faith Reformed church, York. The ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Edmund Lippy, pastor.

New Manager of Hammaker Branch Here: Alfred Harrison Barr, of Wheaton, Illinois, has become associated with Hammaker Brothers, memorial craftsmen, and is now in charge of the Gettysburg branch, 76 Steinwehr avenue, and adjacent Pennsylvania territory.

Mr. Barr, a native of Philadelphia, is a graduate of Williamson school. Preparing for the architectural profession, he was attracted to the stone industry. Mr. Barr succeeds Frank Hammaker, who was in charge of the Gettysburg branch for many years, associated with his brother, Ernest, in Hammaker Brothers firm.

Local People Are Honored by Lutherans: Savannah, Ga., Oct. 23 (AP)—Results of elections to boards and committees of the United Lutheran church in America, announced today at the biennial convention include:

Board of publication, Dr. John Aberly, Gettysburg.
Board of deaconess work, Dr. H. D. Hoover, Gettysburg, clergy member, and Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewis.

Senior Band Nets $212 from Bazaar: The senior band of Gettysburg netted $212.13 from its recent bazaar. The proceeds will be used to purchase uniforms for the musicians.

County Man Is Married Wednesday: Robert E. Daugherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Daugherty, Gettysburg R. 2, and Miss Helen F. Maxwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Maxwell, of Emmitsburg, Maryland, were married at 5:30 o'clock Wednesday evening at the parsonage of Elias Lutheran church, Emmitsburg, by the Rev. Philip Bower.

Mr. Daugherty is employed as a clerk at Zerling's hardware store, center square.

Sells 66-Acre Farm: Mrs. Lida C. Goodbread has sold her 66-acre farm with equipment and crops to H. N. Odert, of Manassas. The farm is located in Butler township. Possession will be given November 30. The sale was made by C. A. Heiges, Buford avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weaver have as their guest at their home in the Blocher apartments, Mrs. Leon Tschantre, of Eastern Shore.

Fuel is ammunition but millions of needless no-parking signs go right on wasting it.

Overlooked A Few

People who have "tried everything" in a desperate effort to solve car problems remind me of those who like to think they are "at the end of their rope." Just let me mention a few of the things one motorist had failed to consider as causes of overheating at a time when he felt that he had left no possible stone unturned:

He had not checked ignition timing to see if it was late. He had not considered the possibility of clogged water passages in the cylinder head. Excessive accumulations of carbon had not been given a place on his list, nor had he figured on a leak around the cylinder head gasket. Yet he had "tried everything!"

Why Plugs Go Bad

Spark plugs burning? There are several causes which you should then immediately check into. Your ignition timing, for instance, may be too far advanced, causing preignition and more rapid eating away of the electrodes. There may be a leak in the intake manifold. The engine may run too hot. Air to the intake may be too hot. Or the plugs may be too loose, or have a cracked gasket or two.

The Motor Primer

Now that motorists are being obliged to retard the timing a bit (after correcting all mechanical troubles) to check excessive knocking from wartime gasoline the question arises in the minds of many as to why it is desirable to advance timing at all. The answer lies in understanding that the spark must be timed to arrive early for the reason that combustion of gasoline vapor within the cylinders never is instantaneous. There is a measurable time required for burning all the vapor, and thus of deriving full benefit from such combustion. To make this possible the spark is timed to arrive a little earlier than it should. Just how far advanced the spark can be, without knocking, depends not only on the engine's condition, the way the car is handled, and the job the car has to do, but on the detonation characteristics of the gasoline itself. Right now the octane rating is a bit low for comfort—way below what is reasonable for the sort of engines we are using.

Mechanic Joe Speaking
"The over-crowded condition of my shop has at least one advantage. That is the chance I have to know first hand why customers' cars are not starting well. You know how it has been in the past. You give me the whole story but may overlook some little detail that would be the tipoff to the cause of starting delay. But you never left the car over night and so I never had first hand experience with it.

"Now I have to start some of the cars before I can get down to business for the day. They crowd the doorway and take up space. So I get at the wheel and soon find out what's wrong. Found one job with a choke that stuck open. On another car the fast idle control didn't work. Another job was sensitive to moisture from condensation. Soon as I wiped off the tops of the plugs the engine started."

Don't—And Why

Every instruction book stresses the fact that the crankcase should not be overfilled, but I have seldom found any explanations as to why this precaution should be observed. You might think of an over-supply as a blessing, but actually when there is too much oil the connecting rods dip into the oil and whirl it to the cylinder walls in such quantity as to overtax the piston rings. That means more carbon in the cylinders and a good likelihood that the plug points will become fouled. There is also a tendency for the oil to foam when it gets into the way of the whirling motor parts. This foaming is especially bad for hydraulic valve lifters since the air that gets into the oil destroys the cushioning effect and the lifters do not succeed in maintaining tappet clearance at zero.

One For The Book

Hope you don't have to have the engine torn down for a ring job but should you be in this boat, and then suffer the worry of a spell of over-heating, I think you'll be interested to learn that use of thick piston rings in shallow grooves is a cause of heating which some old timers still remember. Usually, however, the trouble is due merely to the extra pressure of the new rings on the cylinder walls. This can be minimized by use of special break-in oil and a slightly richer mixture to take care of the drag which should disappear in a few thousand miles.

They're Strictly Taboo

Because so many cars are nearing the end of their life of usefulness there will be more of temptation this fall than ever before to try to save on good brands of anti-freeze by using some of the things that are strictly on the taboo list. In case you feel the urge to experiment, and don't recall just what isn't according to Hoyle, let me list them for you. Topping the list is kerosene, which is not only bad for the cooling system but a bit on the dangerous side since it is a fuel. Out also are sugar and salt. Honey and glucose, with water, are nothing for you to consider. Likewise oil.

Keep This In Mind

A useful little idea when checking for a faulty spark plug is to wipe off the exposed portions of all the plugs first. This will eliminate any moisture, and any dirt that is holding moisture, so that there is no likelihood of high tension current jumping across the tops. In testing, the trick is to short out one or two plugs at a time. Plugs that are defective won't make the engine run worse when they are shorted out. Good ones will, on the contrary, make the engine limp more when shorted. Where there are eight or more cylinders it is often necessary to short two plugs at a time, rather than just one, due to the fact that it is harder to detect misses in an engine with more cylinders.

Basis For Knocking

Those who are trying to bridge us gently over the period of this era of low octane wartime gasoline emphasize the fact that much "pinging" (we really ought to call it knocking) is due to wear on the distributor. Effect of this wear is to cause ignition timing to advance too far. Here's exactly how it happens:

Suppose your job has a vacuum control of the timing to retard the ignition when you have to accelerate. If there is a weak spring in this mechanism, or if the line is leaky or obstructed, ignition won't retard fast enough when you accelerate. Suppose the job has centrifugal advance mechanism for advance of the spark under favorable conditions. Any weakness of the springs or wear on them would cause ignition

Get your CAR ready for The Cold Winter Months Ahead

INSPECTION Starts November 1

You must have it done early if you expect to drive your car or truck. Parts are very hard to get and the longer you wait, the worse it will get. The garage man is busier today than ever in the history of automobiles and you help him as well as yourself if you will come in early instead of waiting until the end of the season.

BETTER CHECK YOUR TIRES!

count books to their farm customers, help them with income tax reports, or in other ways help farmers to do a better job with the paper work of running a farm business," he added.

With reference to the wartime speculation in farm land which is growing serious in parts of the country, Mr. Thomas reported that Pennsylvania banks urge farmers not to contribute to inflation and hard-to-pay debts, by purchasing land at too high a price.

Stress Farm Values
"This effort is important to the future of farming in this state," Mr. Thomas said. "For Pennsylvania farm land values have increased 28 per cent on the average, during the five years since war broke out in Europe. While in many places the situation does not appear to be serious, in some localities the rise has been much more rapid than for the state as a whole."

A survey made by the Adams County Bankers Association shows that practically all of its members are loaning money to farmers and fruit growers, for the purchase of livestock, equipment, seed, fertilizer and repairs to buildings or equipment, and that loans are also being made to farmers and fruit growers on real estate security.

J. D. Miller, president of the Adams County Bankers association, pointed out that the present statutes governing real estate loans to farmers and fruit growers by banks are such as to permit the borrower to obtain funds at reasonable rates and over a comparatively long term on an amortized basis; and that farmers can also refinance old mortgages on new terms to fit present conditions. Mr. Miller also stated that "Pennsylvania now has a modern chattel mortgage law that is of great benefit to farmers and fruit growers of Adams county for financing seasonal requirements such as seed, fertilizer, repairs, equipment and the purchase of live stock, including feeding cattle. From data made available to the Adams County Bankers association by the American Bankers association and by the Committee on Competitive Agencies of the Pennsylvania Bankers association, of which Edmund W. Thomas is chairman, it appears that the banks in Pennsylvania have been making approximately 80 per cent of the production loans to farmers, as of July 1, 1942, and that these loans are made on an overall lower cost basis to the farmer than the total cost of such credit from other sources; and that credit secured by farmers from local banks avoids red tape."

Many Receive Credit
The survey by the American Bankers association showed that in 1943 Pennsylvania banks advanced credit to 42,437 Pennsylvania farmers to help them produce crops and livestock useful to the war effort. This was 25 per cent of all farm operators in the state.

Pennsylvania farmers at the beginning of July 1944 were using $35,902,000 of bank credit, of which $1,182,000 represented commodity loans, $22,114,000 were farm mortgages, and $12,606,000 were direct loans to finance farmers' current operating expenses or livestock and equipment. At the same time Pennsylvania farmers' loans held by the Production Credit association, which are government subsidized lending agencies, totaled $4,693,000.

The report also shows that Pennsylvania banks have available for farm production loans a total of $35,345,000 in 1944, or more than five times the amount needed to take care of the annual needs of all farms in the state for this kind of credit, based on its use during 1943.

Q A little paint from a nearby spray gun got over one of the fenders of my car. What could I use to remove this? J. R. B.

A I would try tar remover. Use it freely and rub hard. It will take off any body wax along with the paint so you'll have to polish and re-wax. But the tar remover won't hurt the body's finish.

Q There is a peculiar noise in the vicinity of the transmission. It does not sound like a bearing, and I do not get it when the clutch pedal is pressed to the floor. What is your opinion? G. McB.

A I believe this is due to the clutch and transmission not being properly aligned. Have the housings loosened and then the bolts retightened.

Q I have never been quite clear as to just when to trust to the generator to bring up a weak battery or to have the battery charged from an outside source. Is there any rule about this? G. W.

A Yes, there is. Glad you asked. If the battery reads below 1.225 specific gravity it should be given a charging out of the car, or possibly by means of a quick charger if the service man is properly versed in the job.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him care of The Gettysburg Times and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for personal reply.

PVT. F. L. BYERS SERVING WITH FIGHTING UNIT

(Special To The Times)

With The Fifth Army, Italy (By Mail)—Pvt. Francis L. Byers, New Oxford, is a member of the 350th Infantry regiment, one of the 88th Infantry Division units which paced Lt. General Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army smash from the Garigliano to north of the Arno River in Italy.

Men of the 350th, hardened mountain fighters, went into action in early March and during the drive up the peninsula, skipped cities and towns to capture innumerable strategic heights which paved the way for advance of other Fifth Army units.

Capture Mt. Cianelli
Particularly outstanding was the regiment's capture of Mt. Cianelli in 31 minutes after opening of the May 11 drive. Seizure of this height, almost unmentioned in news dispatches at the time, has been described as the most important action in the initial operations against the Gustav Line since it cleared the flank of the French Corps and enabled the French to crash through the bottleneck that was Castelforte.

After Cianelli came Hill 316, Mt. Ceracoli, Ventosa, Mt. Rotundo, Mt. Casareccio, Mt. Marino, Mt. Alto and Salvatore. Standing off fierce German counterattacks in a valley south of San Boggio, where supplies and ammunition were dropped from planes, the 350th drove on to capture Roccasecchia del Volsel, 10 miles ahead of Fifth Army lines.

Swarming down out of the mountains after Roccasecchia, a motorized unit of the 350th was among first Allied troops to enter Rome late Sunday afternoon, June 4. North of Rome, the 350th was pulled out for rest and reorganization and returned to the lines July 7.

Assigned a corps objective in the Volterra area, key point in the Nazi line below the Arno River, the 350th attacked the night of July 8 and took, on schedule, the high ground to the west and north of the famed hilltop town, ancient stronghold of the Etruscans. From Volterra, the 350th drove steadily across rough and treacherous terrain to the Arno.

Repel Nazi Thrust

Trained originally in Oklahoma, Louisiana and Texas under command of Colonel Charles P. Lynch, who served during the World War as a Lieutenant in the same regiment, the 350th came overseas late in 1943 and went into the lines in the Minturno sector in early March of this year.

Shortly after taking up defensive positions, it equalled its World War I record of being the first unit of the 88th to repel a German thrust when it beat back a strong German daylight raiding party.

Wounded in action, Colonel Lynch was recalled to the States. On May 6, Colonel James C. Fry of Sand Point, Idaho, and Washington D. C., who had requested overseas duty, assumed command of the 350th and led it in its spectacular march across

Nazi line below the Arno River, the 350th attacked the night of July 8 and took, on schedule, the high ground to the west and north of the famed hilltop town, ancient stronghold of the Etruscans. From Volterra, the 350th drove steadily across rough and treacherous terrain to the Arno.

Repel Nazi Thrust

Trained originally in Oklahoma, Louisiana and Texas under command of Colonel Charles P. Lynch, who served during the World War as a Lieutenant in the same regiment, the 350th came overseas late in 1943 and went into the lines in the Minturno sector in early March of this year.

positions, it equalled its World War I record of being the first unit of the 88th to repel a German thrust when it beat back a strong German daylight raiding party.

Wounded in action, Colonel Lynch was recalled to the States. On May 6, Colonel James C. Fry of Sand Point, Idaho, and Washington D. C., who had requested overseas duty, assumed command of the 350th and led it in its spectacular march across

TROJANS BEAT MAROON ELEVEN BY 48-0 COUNT

Unbeaten Chambersburg high school had little trouble maintaining its perfect record here Friday evening, the Trojans handing a 48-0 lacing to the hapless Gettysburg Maroons in a South Penn conference game before a crowd of approximately 1,200 fans, more than half of whom were from Chambersburg.

The Trojans scored in every period and, adding insult to injury, tallied their final touchdown with second and third stringers in the lineup.

Throughout the entire evening the Maroons displayed their poorest form of the season, with tackling and blocking almost entirely lacking. Fumbling was frequent on both sides, a bitter cold wind numbing players' fingers which contributed heavily to the miscues.

The game opened with the Maroons kicking to Lesher who was downed on his own 26. Shoemaker and Lesher sparked a drive which rolled up three straight first downs to reach the Maroon 15. The drive was interrupted when Tonsel intercepted a pass and returned to his own 17.

Two Quick Scores:

Haehnlen kicked to the Trojan 49. Three more first downs followed before Redfrew circled right and for 21 yards and a score. Boyles' kick for the point was wide.

Chambersburg kicked off to Tonsel who was downed on the 37. On the first play Sumbough intercepted Haehnlen's pass on the 40 and streaked downfield for another tally. Boyles converted on a 2-point play.

Early in the second period the visitors secured possession of the ball on the Gettysburg 35 through a recovered lateral pass and on the first play, Shoemaker went around left end to race into pay dirt. Boyles' kick was wide.

The visitors marched 54 yards for their next tally midway in the second quarter, the score coming on a dash around right end for five yards by Redfrew. Boyles' kick was wide.

Early in the third period Chambersburg secured possession of the ball deep in Maroon territory on a punt and Shoemaker finally went around right end from the 6-yard mark. Shoemaker added the point when he circled right end.

Tally Safety

Late in the period Coach Beard's lads appeared headed for another touchdown but Joe Hess intercepted a pass to stop the drive on the 3-yard stripe. After Hess picked up five yards on a line plunge, Moyer attempted to swing around his own right end and was thrown behind the goal line for a safety.

Following the play the Dry-men kicked to the Trojans who reinforced to Gettysburg's 38 from where another touchdown drive was launched. Redfrew receiving a pass on the five-yard line from where he scored. Laird plunged through for the extra point.

With a host of second and third string Trojan players in action the last quarter it appeared the scoring would be over but Laird intercepted a pass on the Gettysburg 40 and then sparked a scorching drive which wound up with him smashing through the line from the 14 to score. He added the extra point on a line buck.

Final Home Tilt

The visitors piled up 17 first downs while the Maroons could compile but three, one of which came from a penalty.

The game was the final home contest for the Dry-men. Next Friday Hershey will be met at Hershey and on November 10 Mechanicsburg will be met in the final.

Like a turbaned and jewelry festooned "Jill-in-the-box" exotic, Carmen Miranda is cast as a fortune teller—and fortune hunting—Villager in 20th Century-Fox's new musical comedy, "Greenwich Village." The technicolor extravaganza opening Monday at the Majestic theatre.

Starring with Miss Miranda are Don Ameche and William Bendix, with Vivian Blaine, "The Cherry Blonde," Felix Bressart, Tony and Sally De Marco and The Revuers.

Lyrics and music for the fast-moving, star-studded musical were penned by Leo Robin and Nacio Herb Brown.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

"Mr. Winkle Goes to War," Columbia's screen adaptation of the best-selling novel by Theodore Pratt, brings Edward G. Robinson to the Majestic theatre in another great characterization.

Telling the story of a timid bank clerk and his rejuvenation in the Army, "Mr. Winkle Goes to War," films Edward G. Robinson in a different characterization from his customary gangster roles. It is said to be the most lovable and heart-warmingly human portrayal of his entire brilliant career.

Others in the cast are Ruth Warrick, Ted Donaldson, Robert Armstrong, Bob Haymes, Richard Gaines, Richard Lane, Ann Shoemaker and Bernadine Hayes.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Lana Turner returns to the screen in "Marriage Is a Private Affair" after an absence of 14 months.

Lana Turner made her first appearance before the camera in 14 months when she began her role in "Marriage Is a Private Affair," her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture which starts Friday at the Majestic theatre. More beautiful and glamorous than ever, since the birth of her baby daughter, Lana alternated love scenes with her two leading men, John Rodick and James Craig, on the first day's shooting.

Robert Z. Leonard, who directed Miss Turner in her favorite picture, "Ziegfeld Girl," also was at the helm of the new drama, which gave the star her most demanding role as an actress. As Theodora West, heroine of Judith Kelly's best-selling novel of matrimonial discord, she undergoes the transition from a frilly society girl to a war-time bride and mother.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—It was 20 years ago this fall that the Boston Bruins introduced real professional hockey—as distinguished from the kind that was called "amateur"—to the United States. . . . And look what has happened since then. . . . The third decade of national league hockey in the United States starts tonight with only two Canadian clubs left in the pro picture and there even has been a suggestion that the new league president should be an American and that headquarters should be moved south of the border, because "the future of the game lies there." . . . Although special trains for football are "out" for the duration, there'll be one for the Brooklyn Prep-Mt. St. Michael's game tomorrow. The New York subway will run one non-stop from Franklin ave., Brooklyn, to 241st street, Bronx, for Brooklyn fans.

MAROON SCRUBS DOWN CANNERS BY 6-2 COUNT

Coach Fred Haehnlen's Gettysburg high jayvees scored their first gridiron victory of the season Friday afternoon by noosing out the Biglerville high reserves 6-2 in a game played at Biglerville.

The Canners scored their two points on a safety on the initial kickoff.

Biglerville kicked to Gettysburg and when Cromwell accidentally kicked the ball over the end zone in trying to pick it up, the upper countians were automatically awarded two points on the play.

Gettysburg kicked off to Biglerville and the Bream-men drove to the Maroons' 30 where the locals took over on a fumbled pass. From that point the Haehnlen-coached outfit drove for its score early in the second period, Wolfgang going around end to tally from the 2-yard mark. Wolfgang was halted when he attempted to plunge over for the extra point.

Canners Brace

In the final period a pass enabled the Maroons to move to Biglerville's two-yard mark but the Canners put up a fine defense at that point and when a pass was grounded in the end zone on the last down, Biglerville took possession of the pigskin on the 20.

Biglerville drove to Gettysburg's 40 where the locals held and the game ended a few plays later.

TROJANS BEAT MAROON ELEVEN BY 48-0 COUNT

Unbeaten Chambersburg high school had little trouble maintaining its perfect record here Friday evening, the Trojans handing a 48-0 lacing to the hapless Gettysburg Maroons in a South Penn conference game before a crowd of approximately 1,200 fans, more than half of whom were from Chambersburg.

The Trojans scored in every period and, adding insult to injury, tallied their final touchdown with second and third stringers in the lineup.

Throughout the entire evening the Maroons displayed their poorest form of the season with tackling and blocking almost entirely lacking. Fumbling was frequent on both sides, a bitter cold wind numbing players' fingers which contributed heavily to the miscues.

The game opened with the Maroons kicking to Leshner who was downed on his own 26. Shoemaker and Leshner sparked a drive which rolled up three straight first downs to reach the Maroon 15. The drive was interrupted when Tonsel intercepted a pass and returned to his own 17.

Two Quick Scores.
 Haehnlen kicked to the Trojan 49. Three more first downs followed before Redfrew circled right end for 21 yards and a score. Boyles' kick for the point was wide.

Chambersburg kicked off to Tonsel who was downed on the 37. On the first play Stumbaugh intercepted Haehnlen's pass on the 40 and streaked downfield for another tally. Boyles converted on a place-kick.

Early in the second period the visitors secured possession of the ball on the Gettysburg 35 through a recovered lateral pass and on the first play Shoemaker went around left end to race into pay dirt. Boyles' kick was wide.

The visitors marched 54 yards for their next tally midway in the second quarter, the score coming on a dash around right end for five yards by Renfrew. Boyles' kick was wide.

Early in the third period Chambersburg secured possession of the ball deep in Maroon territory on a punt and Shoemaker finally went around right end from the 6-yard mark. Shoemaker added the point when he circled right end.

Tally Safety
 Late in the period Coach Beard's lads appeared headed for another touchdown but Joe Hess intercepted a pass to stop the drive on the 3-yard stripe. After Hess picked up five yards on a line plunge, Moyer attempted to swing around his own right end and was thrown behind the goal line for a safety.

Following the play the Dry-men kicked to the Trojans where another touchdown drive was launched. Renfrew receiving a pass on the five-yard line from where he scored. Laird plunged through for the extra point.

With a host of second and third string Trojan players in action the last quarter it appeared the scoring would be over but Laird intercepted a pass on the Gettysburg 40 and then sparked a slashing drive which wound up with him smashing through the line from the 14 to score. He added the extra point on a line kick.

Final Home Tilt
 The visitors piled up 17 first downs while the Maroons could compile but three, one of which came from a penalty.

The game was the final home contest for the Dry-men. Next Friday Hershey will be met at Hershey and on November 10 Mechanicsburg will be met in the final.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY
 Like a turbaned and jewelry festooned "Jill-in-the-box," exotic Carmen Miranda is cast as a fortune telling—and fortune hunting—Villager in 20th Century-Fox's new musical comedy, "Greenwich Village," the technicolor extravaganza opening Monday at the Majestic theatre.

Starred with Miss Miranda are Don Ameche and William Bendix, with Vivian Blaine, "The Cherry Blonde," Felix Bressart, Tony and Sally De Marco and The Revuers.

Lyrics and music for the fast-moving, star-studded musical were penned by Leo Robin and Nacio Herb Brown.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY
 "Mr. Winkle Goes to War," Columbia's screen adaptation of the best-selling novel by Theodore Pratt, brings Edward G. Robinson to the Majestic theatre in the starring role on Wednesday in another great characterization.

Telling the story of a timid bank clerk and his rejuvenation in the Army, "Mr. Winkle Goes to War," films Edward G. Robinson in a different characterization from his customary gangster roles. It is said to be the most lovable and heart-warmingly human portrayal of his entire brilliant career.

Others in the cast are Ruth Warrick, Ted Donaldson, Robert Armstrong, Bob Haymes, Richard Gaines, Richard Lane, Ann Shoemaker and Bernadine Hayes.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
 Lana Turner returns to the screen in "Marriage Is a Private Affair" after an absence of 14 months.

Lana Turner made her first appearance before the camera in role in "Marriage Is a Private Affair" picture which starts Friday at the Majestic theatre. More beautiful and glamorous than ever, since the birth of her baby daughter, Lana alternated love scenes with her two leading men, John Hodiak and James Craig, on the first day's shooting.

Robert Z. Leonard, who directed Miss Turner in her favorite picture, "Ziegfeld Girl," also was at the helm of the new drama, which gave the star her most demanding role as an actress. As Theodora West, heroine of Judith Kelly's best-selling novel of matrimonial discord, she undergoes the transition from a trilly society girl to a wartime bride and mother.

New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—It was 20 years ago this fall that the Boston Bruins introduced real professional hockey—as distinguished from the kind that was called "amateur"—to the United States. . . . And look what has happened since then. . . .

The third decade of national league hockey in the United States starts tonight with only two Canadian clubs left in the pro picture and there even has been a suggestion that the new league president should be an American and that headquarters should be moved south of the border because "the future of the game lies there." . . . Although special trains for football are "out" for the duration, there'll be one for the Brooklyn Prep-Mt. St. Michael's game tomorrow. The New York subway will run one non-stop from Franklin ave., Brooklyn, to 241st street, Bronx, for Brooklyn fans.

MAROON SCRUBS DOWN CANNERS BY 6-2 COUNT

Coach Fred Haehnlen's Gettysburg high jayves scored their first gridiron victory of the season Friday afternoon by noising out the Biglerville high reserves 6-2 in a game played at Biglerville.

The Canners scored their two points on a safety on the initial kickoff.

Biglerville kicked to Gettysburg and when Cromwell accidentally kicked the ball over the end zone in trying to pick it up, the upper countlains were automatically awarded two points on the play.

Gettysburg kicked off to Biglerville and the Bream-men drove to the Maroons' 30 where the locals took over on a fumbled pass. From that point the Haehnlen-coached outfit drove for its score early in the second period, Wolfgang going around end to tally from the 8-yard mark. Wolfgang was halted when he attempted to plunge over for the extra point.

Canners Brace
 In the final period a pass enabled the Maroons to move to Biglerville's two-yard mark but the Canners put up a fine defense at that point and when a pass was grounded in the end zone on the last down, Biglerville took possession of the pigskin on the 20.

Biglerville drove to Gettysburg's 40 where the locals held the game ended a few plays later.

TROJANS BEAT MAROON ELEVEN BY 48-0 COUNT

Unbeaten Chambersburg high school had little trouble maintaining its perfect record here Friday evening, the Trojans handing a 48-0 lacing to the hapless Gettysburg high Maroons in a South Penn conference game before a crowd of approximately 1,200 fans, more than half of whom were from Chambersburg.

The Trojans scored in every period and, adding insult to injury, tallied their final touchdown with second and third stringers in the lineup.

Throughout the entire evening the Maroons displayed their poorest form of the season with tackling and blocking almost entirely lacking. Fumbling was frequent on both sides, a bitter cold wind numbing players' fingers which contributed heavily to the miscues.

The game opened with the Maroons kicking to Leshner who was downed on his own 26. Shoemaker and Leshner sparked a drive which rolled up three straight first downs to reach the Maroon 15. The drive was interrupted when Tonsel intercepted a pass and returned to his own 17.

Two quick scores.
Haehnle kicked to the Trojan 49. Three more first downs followed before Redfrew circled right end for 21 yards and a score. Boyles' kick for the point was wide.

Chambersburg kicked off to Tonsel who was downed on the 37. On the first play Stumbaugh intercepted Haehnle's pass on the 40 and streaked downfield for another tally. Boyles converted on a placekick.

Early in the second period the visitors secured possession of the ball on the Gettysburg 35 through a recovered lateral pass and on the first play Shoemaker went around left end to race into pay dirt. Boyles' kick was wide.

The visitors marched 54 yards for their next tally midway in the second quarter, the score coming on a dash around right end for five yards by Renfrew. Boyles' kick was wide.

Early in the third period Chambersburg secured possession of the ball deep in Maroon territory on a punt and Shoemaker finally went around right end from the 6-yard mark. Shoemaker added the point, when he circled right end.

Tally Safety
Late in the period Coach Beard's lads appeared ready for another touchdown but Joe Hess intercepted a pass to stop the drive on the 3-yard stripe. After Hess picked up five yards on a line plunge, Moyer attempted to swing around his own right end and was thrown behind the goal line for a safety.

Following the play the Dry-men kicked to the Trojans who returned to Gettysburg's 38 from where an other touchdown drive was launched. Renfrew receiving a pass on the five-yard line from where he scored. Laird plunged through for the extra point.

With a host of second and third string Trojan players in action the last quarter it appeared the scoring would be over but Laird intercepted a pass on the Gettysburg 40 and then sparked a slashing drive which wound up with him smashing through the line from the 14 to score. He added the extra point on a line kick.

Final Home Tilt
The visitors piled up 17 first downs while the Maroons could compile but three, one of which came from a penalty.

The game was the final home contest for the Dry-men. Next Friday Hershey will be met at Hershey and on November 10 Mechanicsburg will be met in the final.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY

Like a turbaned and jewelry festooned "Jill-in-the-box," exotic Carmen Miranda is cast as a fortune telling—and fortune hunting—Villager in 20th Century-Fox's new musical comedy, "Greenwich Village," the technicolor extravaganza opening Monday at the Majestic theatre.

Starred with Miss Miranda are Don Ameche and William Bendix, with Vivian Blaine, "The Cherry Blonde," Felix Bressart, Tony and Sally De Marco and The Revuers.

Lyrics and music for the fast-moving, star-studded musical were penned by Leo Robin and Nacio Herb Brown.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY
"Mr. Winkle Goes to War," Columbia's screen adaptation of the best-selling novel by Theodore Pratt, brings Edward G. Robinson to the Majestic theatre in another great characterization.

Telling the story of a timid bank clerk and his rejuvenation in the Army, "Mr. Winkle Goes to War," films Edward G. Robinson in a different characterization from his customary gangster roles. It is said to be the most lovable and heart-warmingly human portrayal of his entire brilliant career.

Others in the cast are Ruth Warrick, Ted Donaldson, Robert Armstrong, Bob Haymes, Richard Gaines, Richard Lane, Ann Schoemaker and Bernadine Hayes.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
Lana Turner returns to the screen in "Marriage Is a Private Affair" after an absence of 14 months.

Lana Turner made her first appearance before the camera in 14 months when she began her role in "Marriage Is a Private Affair," her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture which starts Friday at the Majestic theatre. More beautiful and glamorous than ever, since the birth of her baby daughter, Lana alternated love scenes with her two leading men, John Hodiak and James Craig, on the first day's shooting.

Robert Z. Leonard, who directed Miss Turner in her favorite picture, "Ziegfeld Girl," also was at the helm of the new drama, which gave the star her most demanding role as an actress. As Theodora West, heroine of Judith Kelly's best-selling novel of matrimonial discord, she undergoes the transition from a frilly society girl to a wartime bride and mother.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—It was 20 years ago this fall that the Boston Bruins introduced real professional hockey—as distinguished from the kind that was called "amateur"—to the United States. . . . And look what has happened since then. . . . The third decade of national league hockey in the United States starts tonight with only two Canadian clubs left in the pro picture and there even has been a suggestion that the new league president should be an American and that headquarters should be moved south of the border—because "the future of the game lies there." . . . Although special trains for football are "out" for the duration, there'll be one for the Brooklyn Prep-Mt. St. Michael's game tomorrow. The New York subway will run one non-stop from Franklin ave., Brooklyn, to 241st street, Bronx, for Brooklyn fans.

MAROON SCRUBS DOWN CANNERS BY 6-2 COUNT

Coach Fred Haehnle's Gettysburg high jayvees scored their first gridiron victory of the season Friday afternoon by noosing out the Biglerville high reserves 6-2 in a game played at Biglerville.

The Cannners scored their two points on a safety on the initial kickoff.

Biglerville kicked to Gettysburg and when Cromwell accidentally kicked the ball over the end zone in trying to pick it up, the upper countians were automatically awarded two points on the play.

Gettysburg kicked off to Biglerville and the Bream-men drove to the Maroons' 30 where the locals took over on a fumbled pass. From that point the Haehnle-coached outfit drove for its score early in the second period, Wolfgang going around end to tally from the 8-yard mark. Wolfgang was halted when he attempted to plunge over for the extra point.

Canners Brace
In the final period a pass enabled the Maroons to move to Biglerville's two-yard mark but the Cannners put up a fine defense at that point and when a pass was grounded in the end zone on the last down, Biglerville took possession of the pigskin on the 20.

Biglerville drove to Gettysburg's 40 where the locals held and the game ended a few plays later.
